

Better Street Lights Are Cause of Annoyance to Some City Householders

Public Works Board Receives Requests to Dim Lights That Flood Bedrooms Turning Night into Day; Other Matters.

READY FOR WINTER

Supt. Conway Reports Winter's Snow Removal Equipment Overhauled and Ready.

The past year many of the smaller street lamps have been replaced with larger at no extra cost to the city by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation under a provision in the city's contract with the electric company. This increased flood of light in the city's streets had led to the Board of Public Works being flooded with complaints from householders who ask the board to take some action toward dimming the street lamps so that the rays from the lamps do not change the bedrooms from night into day.

The board, which has been receiving both written and oral complaints since the old lamps were replaced with larger lamps, received several other written complaints which were read Wednesday evening at the regular monthly meeting at the city hall. After a lively discussion of the question it appeared to be the opinion of the board that it was better to have well lighted streets than the dark streets of the past. It also developed that one of the new street lights complained of by householders is located directly in front of the residence of Mayor C. J. Heiselman, president of the board.

The mayor in reply to queries of his fellow board members said that the rays from the street lamp in front of the house did not disturb his rest as he had curtains which could be drawn together at night and which prevented the street light from shining into his bedroom.

The communications complaining of the street lights were referred to the lighting committee of the board. A communication was read from a concern that manufacturers what is known as the sodium vapor street lamps. Members of the board were of the opinion that lamps of this type would prove best for installation on the Boulevard, Hurley avenue and along North street to the city line as well as other places in the city. It was stated that the lamps were not meant for installation in thickly populated sections but along highways and at entrances to cities.

The board directed its secretary, Fred Gronemeyer, to write the Central Hudson asking that its lighting experts meet with the board some day next week and be prepared to furnish data showing what it would cost to install these new type lamps, which are being used, it was said, with great success in other sections of the country.

Alfred Tigar of Abell street sent in a communication complaining of fumes from the sewer which had been built recently in Block Park. The complaint was referred to Superintendent Conway for investigation.

The Ulster County Agricultural Society wrote asking the board in holding the annual county fair at the state armory.

Leave of Absence. Lorraine B. Wood, veteran draughtsman of the city engineer's office, requested a leave of absence of five months commencing November 1. The request was granted. Mr. Wood's health is not of the best and he plans to use the five months to recuperate. Mr. Wood is the oldest employee of the city in years of service. He entered the employ of the city in 1897, just 39 years ago.

Suggest Skating Rink. Burt Van Deusen of Hasbrouck avenue, who was one of the playground instructors the past summer, suggesting that the board should fund the baseball diamond at Hasbrouck Park the coming winter so as to afford a place for skaters to enjoy themselves. Mr. Van Deusen believed that a skating rink in the park this winter would prove a great attraction to many skaters and that it would be possible to hold winter sports carnivals on the ice. He also suggested that flood lights be installed so that there could be night skating.

Commissioner Bernard V. Roach asked what had become of his idea to have a toboggan slide built in the park.

After some discussion both questions were referred to Superintendent Conway and City Engineer Norton to prepare an estimate of the probable cost.

New City Streets. William Dunsenmann sent in a communication stating that he planned to open a street, to be named Dunsenmann avenue, which he felt was a long felt want of those in the vicinity of having a more direct means of communication between Main street and Lucas avenue. He wrote that he proposed to deed the new street to the city if the city would accept it.

The board after some discussion decided to accept the new street provided it had a width of 10 feet and with the understanding that the city would not make any permanent improvements in the new street until there was a sufficient number of houses erected on the street to pay for the way.

Greatest Election Crisis Since Civil War, Declares Miss Miner

"Wally" Simpson, Pal of King Edward, Sues Husband For Divorce

MRS. ERNEST SIMPSON

London, Oct. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Ernest (Wally) Simpson, following the example of an American friend who first introduced the former Baltimore debutante to King Edward's intimate circle, charged her husband with misconduct today in divorce proceedings.

The suit—based on the charges which alone are grounds for divorce in England—has been set for hearing at the Ipswich Assizes opening October 27.

Simpson herself announced the suit after he and his dark-haired wife, friend and traveling companion of the British monarch, moved out of their Brimsford Court apartment.

Mrs. Simpson, the former Miss Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, sent her belongings to a new home in Cumberland Terrace, less than a mile from Buckingham Palace, official residence of King Edward. Simpson moved into his military club where he is a member by virtue of former enrollment in the crack Coldstream Guards.

"The case will not be defended," Simpson authorized the Associated Press to say for him.

"Beyond that I have no statement to make."

Follows Lady Furness The slender, beautiful royal companion, in opening the divorce proceedings, has followed in the footsteps of her friend, the former Thelma Morgan of New York, who divorced Viscount Furness in January, 1933, on misconduct charges.

Lady Furness opened the way for Mrs. Simpson to enter King Edward's intimate circle of friends by an introduction to the British monarch.

(The former Lady Furness visited in New York two years ago to attend custody hearings of her young niece, Gloria Vanderbilt.)

The hearing at Ipswich where Justice Hawke will preside, probably will be swiftly conducted and likely to require no more than 10 minutes.

Pending the calling of the suit, Simpson was expected to continue his activities as head of the London office of Simpson, Spencer and Young, commercial brokers. During recent weeks he has visited his office infrequently.

Mrs. Simpson, it was predicted, will continue to appear in the presence of King Edward, accompanying the ruler to the royal country home at Sandringham where early next week the monarch will go with a small party of friends.

The name of the king, under no circumstances, will be mentioned during the Ipswich hearing, it was declared, nor will any reference to the friendship between him and the feminine petitioner be made.

Simpson and his wife, their friends asserted, will remain "amicable." In much the same way American film stars continue friendship after being divorced.

Entrancement Known Entrancement of the Simpsons has been known to close friends for some weeks but announcement of the divorce suit was excluded from the columns of all London morning newspapers.

The husband's close associates declared Simpson, although long unhappy domestically, never would file suit against his wife because of the necessity of charging misconduct under British law and Mrs. Simpson's friendship with the king.

In typical undefended divorce proceedings the wife, as the complainant, is called to the witness stand and answers a rapid series of questions and answers establishing her identification, necessary dates of marriage and separation and outlines the basis for the misconduct charges.

In English divorce courts, at this point, there is usually produced a paid receipted hotel bill showing a couple registered as husband and wife stayed at the "Old Yorkshire Inn" at Tiddington-on-the-Thames on such-and-such a night.

Such evidence is required to be produced by a husband who does not defend the suit against himself.

Additional evidence then is called

"We are facing the greatest national election since the Civil War," said Miss Ruth Miner, Albany attorney, in opening her address to the members of the Women's Republican Club in a meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Mrs. A. D. Rose, presiding. She added that the spirit of emancipation pervaded that epic struggle and that the same was true of today and the campaign that is under way as those who love their country and the principles of justice and freedom that have made it the land of opportunity join forces in a battle to free it from threatened dictatorship, tyrannical bureaucracy and the development of a citizenry that has no initiative and no thought except to "lean upon the government," with children brought up in an atmosphere that is expressed in the idea that "you've got to play the game, or you don't get anywhere."

Ancestral Sweat. The speaker referred with scorn to leaders who "got there not by the sweat of their own brows, but by that of their ancestors," and did not hesitate to use the word "hypocrites" as she spoke of the charges that had been made that "economic royalists" were interested in the defeat of President Roosevelt. In this connection she named some of the men of great wealth who were close friends and confidants of the New Deal leader and, coming closer home, discussed the close connection between Governor Lehman and certain powerful interests.

Miss Miner warned her hearers that while the NRA was gone, with its unworkable regulations and restrictions upon business and interference with private affairs, Wallace and the spirit which evolved it remained, and that if President Roosevelt is re-elected the people may expect to see three new judges replace those whose verdict would the constitution and the rights of the people as a whole and "You can then wave a last fond farewell to every principle of American government."

Communists for Roosevelt Discussing the danger of the spread of Communism in this country and the charges that have been made by President Roosevelt that the Republicans are trying to "drag a red herring across the trail," by bringing up the issue, the speaker quoted the report of action taken by the Communist gathering in Moscow in July, in which every Communist was urged to "vote and work for Roosevelt" as the "only hope of Communism in the United States."

She held that it was a very real danger that faced the people of this country, with "London the one and only force that stands in the way of class hatred and revolution."

The charges that have been in New Deal propaganda that Governor Landown closes Kansas schools, cut teachers' salaries and deprives children of educational opportunities, were answered at some length by Miss Miner. She explained that in Kansas each school district is independent of the state government. There are 6,841 rural schools, with but one teacher to a school. Enrollment in late years has been declining and as a result 2,283 of these schools have fewer than ten pupils each and many only one pupil. Depression, drought and dust storms brought on a condition that made it practically impossible for some of these small districts to survive. Governor Landown, with his actions limited by the provisions of the state constitution, solved the problem. Schools were consolidated where possible, but transportation was arranged in many cases and special financial arrangements were made in other cases. Salaries were cut in 1933-35, in Kansas, but elsewhere, said the speaker, but—whereas Kansas school teachers took an average cut in salary of 19 percent, Governor Landown cut his own salary 25 percent. In the 1935-36 school year three Kansas schools were closed because of financial difficulties. These three schools have a total enrollment of nine pupils—and they were enrolled in other schools and provided with transportation.

More Unemployed Than Ever Speaking of the widespread propaganda regarding relief, Miss Miner said, "One would be led to believe that never, before 1932, were the poor fed, the naked clothed, or aid and sympathy extended to the unemployed." "Then," she said, "there suddenly arose a great figure in the land, the great-hearted big brother to everyone in need of help or sympathy," and now "everybody is taken care of." The speaker failed to see it that way and said that, so far as her experience went, she had never known a time when there were so many people coming to her door asking for a hand-out, or seeking help in some way. She quoted figures showing that today there are 20,000,000 people on relief and many more unemployed than when President Roosevelt took office. She charged that it was the policy of the Democratic party, as represented by the present administration, to keep people on relief, "because it means votes for their candidates." She added that if the present weakening and dilution of the population kept on "we won't recognize ourselves four years from now."

How Paying Taxes Now Miss Miner took up at some length the taxes that are being imposed to carry on New Deal policies and the excessive share of taxes paid by New York state. She also emphasized the fact that these taxes, "hidden"

King Leopold Urges Woodstock Voters Get Fascists Within 25 Miles of End To All Belgian Chance Election Day Alliances In Europe For Local Option Vote

Young King Tells His Cabinet to Repudiate All Existing Security Agreements and Return to Neutrality.

SHOCK TO EUROPE

European Diplomatic Circles See Blow to Collective Security, Present and Future.

Brussels, Oct. 15 (AP)—Belgium's return to complete European neutrality, urged upon the cabinet by King Leopold, was interpreted today as repudiating existing security agreement with other powers and duties under the League of Nations covenant.

Informed sources held the Belgian monarch's first speech before a full cabinet session to mean four things: 1. Repudiation of the Franco-Belgian military pact of 1920 which has been regarded as one of the keystones of French defense policy.

2. Belgium's withdrawal from the Locarno Treaty for collective European security.

3. Repudiation of Belgium's duties under the League of Nations covenant.

4. A serious blow to the entire system of collective European security—present and future.

The king's insistence upon abandonment of European assistance through unilateral treaties and return to the pre-war standard of Belgian neutrality shocked diplomatic circles.

To Prevent War The ruler told the cabinet Belgian policy must not be to prepare for victorious war but to prevent war from sweeping over Belgian territory.

He pointed out to his ministers the country's geographical position "compels us to maintain our military machine so as to dissuade any of our neighbors from using our territory to attack another state."

Alliance with a single state, he asserted, would weaken the Belgian foreign policy and a defensive alliance would open the country to invasion.

"We must aim resolutely at placing ourselves outside the conflicts of our neighbors," the young monarch declared vigorously.

The Belgian military system, King Leopold urged, should undergo two revisions:

1. It should be organized to preserve Belgium from war.

2. It should be built up to remedy its present defects.

The king asked for strict neutrality in the Spanish civil war to prevent entanglements which might endanger the country's peace.

The Belgian parliament was called into extraordinary session October 27. The purpose of the meeting was not stated officially.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS PAY VISIT TO THE MORGUE. Pittsburgh, Oct. 15 (AP)—Eleven men, standing beside the bodies of the unclaimed dead in Allegheny county's morgue, vowed on their honor not to drink again while driving an automobile.

They filed past the bodies of accident victims, stood beneath green lights of the morgue chapel, raised their right hands, and recited in solemn tones:

"I will never drink any intoxicating beverage when I am about to drive an automobile."

All had been sentenced by Judge M. A. Mummanno to jail terms for driving while intoxicated.

Justice Schrick Grants Motion to Dismiss Objections of "Wets" and Case Goes to the Board of Elections.

ENOUGH NAMES

Sufficient "Legal" Signatures to Petition in Opinion of Court; Various Exceptions Taken.

Voters of the town of Woodstock will have an opportunity to vote on election day on the question of whether the town shall become dry or remain wet as at present. That fact became apparent this morning when Judge Joseph M. Fowler of Fowler & Connelly moved to dismiss the proceeding which has been in Supreme Court for the past several days, an application to strike from a petition names of subscribers who claim their names have been placed there through misrepresentation and to void the petition which was filed with the town clerk and the Board of Elections requesting that the local option question be submitted to the voters of the town. Judge Fowler appeared for the original petitioners who sought to have the question put to a vote.

Application of "Wets." After the petition was filed a committee representing certain "wets" made an application to the court to have the petition nullified on the grounds that there were certain signatures which were illegally on the petition and on the grounds that if these illegal signatures were stricken from the petition there would be insufficient names remaining to comply with the law.

Affidavits were filed by a large number of the original signers claiming that there had been fraud and misrepresentation. Other names it was claimed by the "wets" had not been properly witnessed and there were additional names which were objected to on legal grounds.

The matter came up for a hearing before Justice Harry E. Schrick in Supreme Court. Cashin & Ewig appeared for the "wets" and opposed the submission of the local option question to the voters.

Argued in Supreme Court. That matter was argued in Supreme Court and recently Justice Schrick ruled that after striking off the names of the persons who signed the petition but not in compliance with the provisions of the law, that there were still 51 signatures in excess of the required number to make the petition legal and bring it before the voters for a vote on election.

Justice Schrick ruled that if the "wets" desired to void the petition they must strike off at least 51 more signatures through the taking of oral proof to show that there was fraud and misrepresentation.

Roger H. Loughran appeared for the town clerk.

It was announced that the oral testimony would be taken and Justice Schrick set the case down for today.

At the opening of court Judge Fowler moved the trial of the matter.

In ruling out certain names from the original 379 signers there still remained 267 which the court held were legal, unless testimony was taken to indicate that the people had signed under fraud or misrepresentation.

Judge Fowler's Exception Judge Fowler took an exception to the court's ruling in regard to each sheet of the petition which had been filed illegal.

Mr. Ewig took exception to the court's findings in reference to the court refusing to strike off the names of persons referred to as retractors and also to the court striking off the name of George Neher who signed as notary public and also as a signer to the petition. He also took exception to the court striking off names of signers on pages which it was alleged had not been properly filed out. Objection was also made to the court's refusal to strike off some 135 signatures of names who he claimed were not qualified voters.

Mr. Ewig offered 107 affidavits of signers to the original petition which were a part of the moving papers. To this Judge Fowler objected on the grounds that the affidavits on the same as used in bringing on the original motion and he held that these affidavits were not competent evidence in the case now but were competent evidence only at the time of the bringing of the original motion. He held that at this stage of the case oral testimony should be taken from these people to substantiate the affidavits which had been taken in the moving papers. Justice Schrick sustained his objection.

Mr. Ewig then offered the retractions of the signers and Mr. Fowler objected and the court sustained his objection.

Wet's Contentions Mr. Ewig said that his contention was that a prima facie case had been established by the objectors and that the "dry" committee had not denied the facts set forth.

He said that he believed that while only 51 additional signatures were required to be withdrawn from the petition in order to make it invalid, that there were at least 25 signers which were illegal and which should be stricken from the petition of the "dry."

This number would prevent the submission of the local option matter to the voters.

Judge Fowler said that fraud was

Soviet Renews Its Pressure Today To Force Aid Issue

London, Oct. 15 (AP)—Soviet Russia renewed its heavy pressure to force the Spanish military aid issue today amid gathering, grave perplexities on European security.

Ambassador Ivan M. Maisky of the Soviet Union and M. Kagan, Russian member of the "hands-off-Spain" committee, descended again upon Lord Plymouth, based secretary of the non-intervention group. They pressed him a second time to convoke the committee immediately to act on the demand for a virtual blockade of Portuguese ports to stop Fascist arm shipments to Spain.

At the moment, Britain was pondering this double-barreled barrage: Belgium's announced reversion to pre-war isolation.

A German reply to Locarno pact questions, regarded in many quarters as unfavorable.

Immediate conferences over the new Belgian neutrality policy, as announced by King Leopold himself.

This, it generally was agreed, was the most surprising development in the new Locarno mix-up.

Informed sources also predicted Belgium's apparent withdrawal from defensive alliances with France and its blunt skepticism over the League of Nations were likely to hit the French government hard and make Premier Leon Blum's task of building up continental resistance to Germany most difficult.

Heavy Silence. Maisky and Kagan remained only a short time at the foreign office today. As they departed, they left a heavy silence behind them.

Lord Plymouth had refused a previous demand for an immediate session of the committee.

The German reply on British queries for detailed suggestions as to future European security was delivered to the foreign office today by Prince Otto Von Bismarck, counselor of the German embassy in London.

Informed sources said it left the way open for future discussions of a new Locarno pact (Germany repudiated the old one last spring by rearming the Rhineland).

However, the Reich was understood to be firmly objecting to any attempt to draw Russia into European security negotiations, and to be reiterating previous insistence on national equality among other European powers.

Obvious Complications. Belgium's new position, which King Leopold said in a cabinet speech "must aim resolutely at placing us outside conflicts with our neighbors," lent obvious complications to the Locarno plans.

As for the Russians, it was understood Lord Plymouth was unrelenting in his stand on the Soviet proposal that British and French warships patrol the Portuguese coast to insure against arms trafficking to Spain.

It was reported he had told Maisky and Kagan that the proposal was outside the competence of the non-intervention committee, and that it would have to be offered through ordinary diplomatic channels.

It was unofficially reported, however, that Portugal had offered to consent to such non-intervention tactics provided similar control measures were adopted for the eastern coast of Spain, where the ports remain loyal to the Madrid government.

Portugal, it was further stated, already has made observations regarding the Soviet charges that the with Germany and Italy, allied Spanish insurgents.

Russia's newest call on the foreign press produced a pronounced case of jitter in some British circles which feared a Soviet walk-out from the neutrality set-up was imminent.

Lord Plymouth, however, said another meeting of the committee would be called "soon."

Rebels in Tremendous Offensive Near Strategic Center of Naval-Carnero; Two Loyal Planes are Shot Down.

TRENCHES DUG

Reports of Russian Stand Cheer the Government Sympathizers; Press Speaks of "World War."

San Martin de Valdeleclinas, Spain, Oct. 15 (AP)—Fascist armies, in a tremendous new offensive, smashed their way to a point 25 miles west of Madrid today.

Three columns of fighters, under Gen. Jose Varela, took part in the drive.

Now the Red and Yellow flag of Spanish insurrection waves above the Alberche river near the village of Aldoa Del Fresno, only nine miles from the strategic center of Naval-carnero.

Two Madrid planes were shot down during the advance. One plunged in a vivid sheet of flame on the side of a hill just one hundred yards from where General Varela stood talking to the Associated Press correspondent.

Spearhead of the advance was a column of steel-helmeted regulars, who pushed forward 13 miles under Varela's personal command.

Another column roared at sunset at Chapinoria, 2 miles east of San Martin.

The third column struck northward from Santa Cruz Del Retamar, on the Maqueda-Madrid road, in another 9-mile advance.

Offensive Pounds On. Trucks, tanks, and armored cars pounded ahead during the offensive, in which General Varela sought not only to chase the retreating government troops but to block their retreat.

Insurgent planes patrolled the skies from dawn to dusk. The push began at 5 a. m. yesterday. The Associated Press correspondent, reaching the road junction midway between Almorox and San Martin in the general's caravan, found the column already started forward toward the Alberche river.

Two hours later, two insurgent airplanes engaged three government sky fighters directly above the command post.

In the clear, cold sunlight, the planes banked, looped and twisted like angry insects in a white blanket of clouds. The rattle of machine-gun fire could be easily heard.

Race of Airman. Suddenly, out of the white blanket, shot a human form. A pilotless plane spun to earth, straight for the command post, crashed on the side of the hill. Wreckage was tossed for yards around.

Then came the parachutes. Pulling desperately on the ropes, the hapless pilot sought to avoid landing on the Fascist command post.

But as he reached the 500-foot level two revolver shots cracked out and the man slumped in his straps. "Suicide!" screamed the waiting Fascists below.

The parachute drifted to earth in a wooded, rocky spot and the insurgents started a search. All they found was a blood-stained parachute.

Apparently, they said, the aviator had saved his life by simulating suicide in the air.

A second government plane crashed four miles away.

Later on, General Varela, wrapped in an immense cape, stood at the front lines in a bitter cold wind, gazing across the Alberche river at the retreating government militiamen.

At the river, the Fascists found the bridge dynamited and engaged in a bitter machine-gun exchange which made even a ditch a welcome refuge at times for war correspondents.

Today the three columns should be united for an attack on Naval-carnero, the next objective.

Trenches Are Dug Madrid, Oct. 15 (AP)—Government machine gunners stuck to their posts in the Pelayos Gorge of the Alberche river today, striving to check a large force of Fascist insurgents only a little more than 25 miles due west of the capital.

Southwest of Madrid the Fascists even closer to their goal in the nearly three-month-old civil war. Government soldiers, the war ministry said, held off a surprise attack at Aldoa Del Fresno, near Naval-carnero, which is only about 20 miles from Madrid.

Close to the city, huge machine-gun trenches in preparation for a possible last-ditch fight if the insurgents close in.

Reports that Russia was contemplating withdrawing from the international "Hands-Off-Spain" pact, to die more aid to the Socialists than she has, created some cheer among government sympathizers.

The belief a world war was "inevitable" was voiced by the newspaper Claridad. But it added such a conflict might be delayed for some months because of what is called a "mandatory fact" that Germany had not completed her rearmament. Fascists poured down on the ground.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Oct. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brundage of the mountain road are away on a three days' motor trip to Pennsylvania. Francis Brundage is looking after his brother's farm during the latter's absence.

J. A. Lauber and family were at their summer home in the Louis Thiel cottage over the week-end.

Farmers report finding a skim of ice early Tuesday morning in vessels used for watering their chickens. Pepper plants and even potato vines on low ground were hard hit by the heavy frost. There was little sunshine Tuesday, making corn husking a pretty cold job. On Monday the wind blew a gale at times, laying low many a stack of husked corn stover.

Dennis T. Lynch, New York author and newspaperman, is spending a few days at his country home near Tice TenEyck mountain.

Francis Hughes, well known reservoir employee, and son-in-law, Santi Nadal, have returned from a motor trip of several days to Canada.

Louis Thiel, trustee of school district No. 4, has cut his tobacco crop. The cultivated weed came through the dry summer in good shape and Mr. Thiel will have his usual yearly supply of home-grown tobacco. Others who planted tobacco in their gardens this year included Claude Rose and Charles Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clapp of New Jersey called on friends in the village center Sunday.

Mrs. Louise Windrum of Brooklyn is visiting at the home of Mrs. Jean Green.

The Rev. August Pfus has joined the growing ranks of water toters, the large cistern which supplies the Reformed Church manse having gone dry. The cistern, which receives the drainage from one side of the church roof, was built in preference to a driven well, earlier in the cycle of annual drouths. The domine, together with several other householders on church hill, has been getting water from the schoolhouse well, an excellent supply still capable of furnishing 25 gallons of water per minute. Hazzie Wager, another resident of that section, also has a fine driven well which has not lowered perceptibly thus far in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Winchell removed their household effects Tuesday from the Robert Secor place on the old state road to the house in the village center belonging to Mrs. Ella Secor of Kingston. The Winchells had made their home at the former location, long known as the Charles MacDonough place, for the past several years.

A marriage of October 15, 1886, was that which united William W. Windrum to Emma Allen. The wedding ceremony was performed at West Hurley by the Rev. J. N. Bryers, pastor of the M. E. Church. The groom was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Windrum of Shokan and his bride was a member of the Allen family residing in what is now the Spillway section of Marbletown.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings spent the week-end at the home of Miss Elizabeth Giles. The couple have been coming here for their vacation for many years.

Joseph H. Dewitt, who passed away Sunday at the age of 60 years, had spent practically his entire life in Shokan. As a boy he attended school in the original Shokan schoolhouse adjoining the Reformed Church grounds in the old village. Naturally studious, possessed of a keen mind and a retentive memory, Mr. Dewitt became an authority on local history, traditions and folklore; for 60 years he had added to his own stock of knowledge many interesting facts gleaned through association with other residents of Olive and Shandaken. His hobby was American history study, a subject in which he was well versed. A grandfather of Mr. Dewitt, the Rev. W. R. Betts, was for a number of years pastor of the Shokan Dutch Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf returned Monday from Boston, after having taken Mrs. Elmendorf's mother, Mrs. Kinney, to her home in that city.

Tuesday, Paul James and Fred Weeks with the latter's truck moved James Carpenter's fishing boat from the east basin of the reservoir to the Carpenter summer home on the Ridge road. Due to the low water in the basin, the boat was anchored far out from the normal flow line and the movers found old stone fence walls and other barriers in the course of their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Peck of New York were at their summer home on the mountains Tuesday.

Callers here Tuesday included the John Kirns father and son, who operate a large dairy farm at Port Ewen. The Kirns family for several years resided on the present Norval Fortson place.

Mrs. Thomas Matland returned to Long Island, Monday after spending the summer here.

The mountain road leading up to the old Coons district is in a pretty rough condition this fall. The pavement of shale and gravel has seen a deal of wear and tear from the cars of the city families in the heights sector, some of whom are accustomed to drive up and down the steep grade several times a day.

Work And Live

Bremen, Ga.—Mrs. Harriet Bush observed her 33rd birthday today and commented:

"I've done almost every kind of work that a man can do."

Then she recalled the day after her 70th birthday when she picked 100 pounds of cotton.

Stuck-Up

Oklahoma City—Robert Vaughn, driving his taxi with two passengers on an unpaved street, became stuck in mud. He turned and remarked, "Well, it looks like I'm stuck."
"Yes," answered one, producing a gun, "you are." The fares then waded off with his $4.35, Vaughn complained to police.

As You Were

Seattle—J. Gawronski, 58, appeared in court to answer a reckless driving charge, looked around for his attorney, Jacob Kalina, and found him in the judge's bench. City Attorney Bruce MacDougall promptly demanded, and obtained, a postponement until next month, when Kalina will not be acting police magistrate.

Health Personalized

Genoa, Neb.—William Hickey, 55, can now tell of his trip to the doctor's office when his friends talk about their operations.

He made his first call on a doctor and a dentist recently. Just as he expected, neither found anything wrong with him. Only two of his teeth were missing. He extracted them himself.

Long shelves loaded with jellies and preserves had their place beside the potato bins and apple barrels in the old fashioned cellar. Cellars aren't as important now as they used to be but fruit jellies are just as tempting as ever.

Institute, the League meeting will be in conjunction with the prayer meeting.

Sunday, October 18, will be Missionary Sunday. A special program has been arranged for this Sunday. You are urged to make a special effort to attend this service. This is the day when the World Service contributions are to be handed in so that they may be sent to the World Service treasurer before October 31.

'WALLY' SIMPSON GETS AROUND

Mrs. Ernest Simpson (nearest camera), friend of King Edward VIII, was caught at an informal moment during a dinner party in London in one of the infrequent photographs taken of her. This is a previously unpublished photograph and indicates much of the charm that has made her a favorite of the King. (Associated Press Photo)

'SALADA'

--The perfect
TEA

This is a remarkable year for acorns, in the hardwood forests in the Highlands of the Hudson, as any one who observes the ground under oakwoods in the New York Division of the Palisades Interstate Park of New York and New Jersey may readily see. Every species of oak is bearing heavily.

Lucky for You
—It's a Light Smoke!

A CLEAR VOICE—A Light Smoke

Whether you sing in the parlor—or just hum in your morning tub, be kind to your throat. A clear voice, a light smoke—they go together. Guard those delicate membranes. Select a light smoke—a Lucky.

In Harmony with Your Throat

More marvelous than any invention is the "music box" inside your throat. But so delicate...with its maze of membranes! No wonder so many stars of the movies and radio say that for them a light smoke is the right smoke. Luckies are a light smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco. Luckies hit the right note with your taste! The only cigarette with the tender center leaves of the highest-priced tobacco plus the all-important throat protection of the "Toasting" process. Remember—the only cigarette. So reach for a Lucky and be kind to your throat!

Republican Rally
At Woodstock

There will be a Republican rally this evening at Firemen's Hall, Woodstock, at 8 o'clock. Arrangements for the meeting have been made under the direction of Dr. J. O. Arnold in conjunction with the Republican town committee.

One of the speakers at the rally will be John Spargo from national headquarters, who is reported to be a very forceful speaker, one who is familiar with the national issues. Among the local speakers who will appear will be Fred Stang, president of the Young Republican Club; Senator Arthur B. Wicks and District Attorney Cleon B. Murray. The public is invited to attend this rally.

Local Silk Mills
Are Now Operating

After being idle for about two years the Kattermann & Mitchell Company silk mills on Cornell street reopened about the middle of August and now have about 50 employees at work. At the plant today it was stated that this number was slowly being added too, and that when the mills were in full operation about 160 people would be employed. It will likely be several months before the plant is running full force.

Birthday Party

A birthday party was held for Doris Hart Isaacson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Isaacson, 6 Thomas street, Monday, and several of her little friends enjoyed the event. They showered her with gifts. Those present were Maureen Peters, Mary Ferraro, Kathryn Pabysac, Kathleen and Mary Lou Klarick, Donald Murphy, Bobbie Mericle, Phyllis Fay and Jackie Haber.

Birthday Celebration

Samsonville, Oct. 15—On Tuesday evening, October 13, a very enjoyable party was held at the home of Mrs. Lillian Brown of Samsonville by relatives in honor of her birthday. A lovely supper was served at 6 o'clock by Mrs. Brown, including a birthday cake served with ice cream. Other refreshments were candy and oranges. Some very pretty gifts were received. The guests departed to their homes at a late hour wishing their sister and aunt many more happy birthdays.

Shower for Miss DeGraft

Bearsville, Oct. 15—Very happy indeed was Miss Olive DeGraft of Kingston on Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Albert Phillips of Bearsville received into their home about 78 friends and relatives to celebrate a variety shower in honor of Miss Olive's coming marriage to Victor L. Shults of Bearsville. The house was prettily decorated with crepe paper and dahlias, the color scheme being yellow and white. Over the table in the center of the room was a paper decoration to represent an umbrella, with tiny streamers of yellow and white ribbon tied to each package as they lay on the table. After an hour of visiting the presents were opened which consisted of silver, glassware, money, linen, china, lamps, blankets and household utensils of all kinds. At midnight a delicious luncheon, consisting of sandwiches, salad, cakes, ice cream and punch was served, one special cake being a fancy shower cake with a tiny bride and groom for the decoration. Guests were present from Kingston, Monticello, Wittenberg, Bearsville, Woodstock, Chichester and Hempstead, L. I. At a late hour all departed for their homes wishing the bride-to-be a long and happy wedded life.

The issue which was raised by the "dry" retractors and that the fraud issue was one of fact which could not be sustained by affidavits but was a point which must be shown by common law proof. He then moved to dismiss the proceeding and for a return of the original petition to the town clerk and the board of elections so that the matter might be submitted to the voters on election. Justice Schirick granted the motion to dismiss the objections and directed that an order be submitted. Judge Fowler moved for taxable costs against the objectors but the court reserved decision on that proposition pending the study of authorities.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. Julius T. Teiller of 251 Washington avenue, a daughter, Elizabeth Anne, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Hoffay of 144 Downs street, a son, Charles Grover, at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Courtland V. Guerlin, Jr., of Oceanport, N. J., a son, Courtland Vincent, 3d, at Benedictine Hospital.

German Beakers

Beakers were popular in Germany during the Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries. They were used as gild cups, and many are to be seen depicting Scriptural and classical scenes in silver relief. Tankards were also made in great quantities, but mostly of another product combined with silver, such as serpentine, stoneware, amber and ivory. The fact that they were nearly always decorated with silver borders proved the very definite flair for silver in the Reich.

Council Committee Makes Inspection of Public Schools Here

Mayor C. J. Heiselman, Superintendent of Schools B. C. Van Ingen, President John J. Schwenk and Aldermen Garon, Peyer and Murphy of the Common Council, this morning made a tour of inspection of the schools of the city while the schools were in session. The inspection was preliminary to an investigation to be made by the council committee and the mayor as to congested conditions reported both at the high school and in at least one of the grade schools. At a recent meeting of the education board Superintendent Van Ingen was instructed to get in touch with Mayor Heiselman and take up the school situation with the mayor. The two met and as a result of the conference Mayor Heiselman sent a communication to the council urging that the president of the council be urged to appoint a committee of three aldermen to act with him as a special school committee. President Schwenk appointed Aldermen Garon, Peyer and Murphy as the members of this committee whose duties are to make a survey and study of the school situation and report their findings later to the Common Council.

REGISTER OR LOSE YOUR VOTE

Friday and Saturday will be the last two days to register. You must register if you intend to cast your vote on Election Day. Perhaps fewer have taken advantage of their privilege to be of the governing class than there should have been but the truth is every so often the majority of those who can vote, and of those who do vote, render a decision that leaves no room for misunderstanding.
 Granting that more should vote than have been voting, those who have gone to the polls have had pretty good check of things.

This year there is reason to look for the largest vote ever polled here.
 Registration in Kingston for the first two days totaled 7,625. The newspapers and periodicals which got solidly behind the movement to get the voters to register are to be applauded, for without them the campaign could not have been a success.
 They are the mediums that make it possible to convince the people that the voter is part of the governing class, while the person who does not vote is only a part of the class that is governed.

On Friday the polls will be open in this city from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.
 and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 10
 p. m.

LANDON AND THE SCHOOLS.

Kansas most properly has a right to be proud of her schools. Governor Landon having helped the common schools more than the average governor.

During his administration Governor Landon backed the passage of the Rees cooperative school law which equips weak districts to cooperate in the education of children.
 In this cooperation, where schoolhouses are abandoned and children are cared for outside the district, will be found most of the agony which is squeezing tears out of the Democrats about Kansas schools.
 The schoolhouses are closed but the children are being cared for.

Another big move that Governor Landon made for education was in the appointment to the state board of education of men and women of high quality. During his administration and under his leadership qualifications for teachers and administrators in high schools as well as in college and secondary schools have been raised and more colleges and secondary schools have met the requirements of the North Central Educational Association, the standard and western test for institutions of higher education, than were put in under any recent administration.

Kansas common school teachers' wages are too low. But the Governor has nothing to do with the wages of Kansas school teachers. It is outside of his prerogative. He couldn't help it if he wanted to.

You can't have the high rate of literacy, the highest rate of farm children in high schools and also the highest number of college graduates in proportion to population in Kansas far beyond that of New York or the seaboard states and with all these things have anything seriously wrong with the Kansas schools.

ENGLAND IN PALESTINE

It has been said sarcastically of the English people, "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." And among their vast real estate holdings they seem to regard the Promised Land of the Jews as their own, since they got their mandate from the League of Nations after the World War. A good thing they are making of it, too, in some ways, especially in mining the rich salts of the Dead Sea and other natural wealth.

At the same time, it must be admitted in fairness that Great Britain is probably performing a useful service in Palestine better than any other power would do it. The Jews today, persecuted and driven from many lands, look to their ancient Holy Land as a modern refuge and flock there in ever-growing numbers.
 But they find more and more hostility among the Arabs, who have been there for some centuries and regard the returning Hebrews as intruders.
 The British are evidently needed
 there to protect the peaceful Jews from robbery and slaughter. Englishmen are temperamentally fitted for such work. It is a fine humanitarian service, deserving of some material reward.

HARNESSED SUN-POWER

The solar heat engine which failed to work in the attempted demonstration before engineers at the World Power Conference last month was completely successful in a test three weeks later. It generated electricity which in turn furnished power for a broadcasting amplifier. The human voice was transmitted by sun-power for the first time. The machine converted the heat from the sun into a utilizable form of energy by focusing the sun's rays onto a small moving stream of black liquid. The liquid became heated to 400 degrees centigrade and was passed by means of tubes through a boiler, driving the steam engine and generating electricity.

Broadcasting may not be the most important use to which energy made from sun power will be put, but it provided, an interesting field for demonstration. More will be heard of sun engines as time goes on.
 Eventually we may make use of solar energy in our homes, heating them, or the hot water used in them, or cooking meals. And there may be vast power plants in the tropics with industrial development of regions now sparsely populated.

WATER FREIGHT

Railroad freight shipments have been so prominent in the industrial news that they have overlooked water shipments. Shipping on the Great Lakes, which have the heaviest freight traffic in the world, is making records again.

Big freighters mostly carry ore down the lakes from the Superior region, and coal up from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The ore volume for the summer season, reported on October 1 with a couple of months yet to go, totaled 23,762, 000 gross tons, 52 per cent more than for the same period last year.
 And coal, with a total of 32,632,000 tons and an estimated 11,000,000 tons more to go before the end of the season, will be several million tons above the all-time record of 1923. Such traffic items as these are basic. They not only demonstrate the solid gains of the present year but forecast greater activity next year.

DEBT CANCELLATION.

There's help for farmers in Canada, too, and a spectacular example of it in Saskatchewan. In the southern and western part of that province, which has been sorely stricken by drought, debts amounting to $75,000,000 have been canceled.
 The cancellations were made by the federal government, for nearly 50,000 farmers, it was done by joint action of the federal and provincial governments and the mortgage and loan companies. The companies absorbed one-third of the loss and the public treasuries paid the rest. The creditors were satisfied to get two-thirds of their money.
 Farmers need to feel that they were discriminated against in times of distress. It seemed easier and more natural somehow for banks and governments to help city people than country people. But that is true no more. Both in the United States and in Canada, and indeed in most of the world, the farmers are now getting at least their share of public help.

 ABOUT A HAT

"In that case, he met Miss Fraser for the first time on the night of the murder, when he took her back to her guardian's house," Kennedy said crisply. "They arrived back at the house at about four in the morning. If he was the man in the room at midnight when your uncle was killed, and you say you're sure he was, he'd never met Miss Fraser then. He went and fetched her and took her home from wherever she was after the murder."

"You're not suggesting that Ruth knew anything about my uncle's murder?" cried Elsa. It was a horrible voice. "I wouldn't believe that for a moment."

"No, I'm hardly suggesting that," said the Inspector. "But if you're right, if he only met her once before that meeting in your house, I don't

From his capacious overcoat pocket he juggled a crumpled object —the hat which Mahony had left in the room in Jamaica Road, and tossed it across to Mahony.

Mahony had been a bit worried about that hat. He glanced at it casually.

"Yes, it's mine," he answered in an unconcerned tone. "It blew off my head when I was on top of a bus, and was away before I could catch it. I didn't bother to go after it because it's only an old hat."

"Now for some awkward questions about how that hat had got into the house in Jamaica Road, he thought. But he did not get the chance to deny anything. Inspector Kennedy made a point of never asking people questions they expected.

"Who is Mr. Brown?" he asked.
 "Is he a friend of yours?"

The question was quite unexpected: it gave Mahony a very nasty shock. For one moment he had a horrible feeling that the Inspector had discovered everything about Billy Ross.

"It's a very common name," he answered. "The telephone directory contains pages of it. I dare say I know somebody called Brown, but I haven't any particular friend of that name."

"Do you really think that?" Kennedy asked.

believe he obtained sufficient influence over her to make her perjure herself and endanger her reputation to shield him simply by talking to her.

"Either he was blackmailing her, forcing her to say what he told her,
 or else she was immensely grateful to him for something he'd done for her. Just think for yourself, Miss Little. Miss Fraser is rash and impulsive, but she's no fool. Would she go out of her way to defend an absolute stranger at the risk of her own reputation unless she had some definite reason for it?"

"No, she wouldn't," agreed Elsa.
 "I suppose he must be blackmailing her, then."

Inspector Kennedy smiled slightly.
 "Do you really think that, Miss Little?" he asked searchingly.
 Elsa's conscience pricked her a trifle.

"No," she admitted. "I don't really think it, though I should like to. I think Ruth really likes Mahony."
 That ended the conversation, and Elsa drove away. When she had gone, the Inspector stood for a few moments considering before he returned into the house. His talk with Elsa had opened up an entirely new train of possibilities to him.

THE Inspector was convinced that Mahony knew a good deal about the kidnapping of Elsa, and about her uncle's murder. But during that short period of reflection he had made up his mind not to arrest him just yet.

For one thing, if he left Mahony at liberty there was the possibility that he might get on the track of other members of the kidnapping gang — more important members, perhaps.

For another thing, he had a feeling that if he arrested Mahony now he might be doing just what somebody meant him to do — somebody working very cleverly and cautiously behind the scenes.

He was smiling when he re-entered Mahony's room; his manner was that of a man paying an ordinary call upon another.

"Sorry to keep you waiting," he said. "I haven't got anything very important to talk about, I came to see you because I believe you're lost a hat. Is this yours?"

Terence gets, tomorrow, a warning from Ruth Fraser.

Bureau Community Meetings Held

The first two annual meetings of Farm Bureau community committees were held at Modena and Flatbush on Monday and Tuesday night.
 The committees of Flatbush and Modena-Flatbush met at the home of chairman Frank Black, and the Flatbush-Lake Katrine group met at the home of Claude Kiefer.

At both meetings the work of the past year was discussed and local projects developed for the coming year. Plans were also made for the annual membership campaign. Farmers will be given an opportunity to become a member of the Farm Bureau.

During the next 10 days meetings of all the Farm Bureau Community committees will be held.

 PREVENTING RICKETS

With the arrival of cold weather it is not unusual for many mothers to keep their children indoors so that they will not "catch cold."
 Thus little babies are kept bundled up both indoors and out, very little sun ever reaches them and because they are receiving good helpings of milk from breast or bottle daily, mothers are apt to feel that all is well. And because the bony structure looks fairly normal—no bowlegs or pigeon breasts—such a thing as rickets is never suspected.

However our baby specialists are teaching all mothers that rickets attacks other parts of the body besides the bones, particularly the nervous and the muscular system.

Early signs of rickets are restlessness and sweating of the head, which appear before there is any sign of bone change. As rickets progresses there is the "beading" of the ribs where the bone and the cartilage of the ribs meet, then enlargement of wrists and ankles and enlargement of the forehead. The teeth are late in appearing and the youngster
 "does not sit up at seven months or stand at the end of the first year."

The abdomen becomes large and the legs, because of the soft bones, may become deformed. Added to these symptoms is the general lack of resistance to other ailments—head colds, bronchitis, bronchopneumonia, and middle ear inflammation. This accounts to some extent for the high death rate from the above diseases during the cold weather.

Now all this trouble from rickets is because the child is not receiving an important element in his food, or from the sunshine; that is vitamin D, found in a rich concentrated form in cod liver oil.

Vitamin D is the tool that enables the body to store or lay down in the bones that salt of calcium and phosphorus necessary for their strength and rigidity.

Cod liver oil contains one to two hundred times as much vitamin D as the richest food source, butter; whole milk, egg yolk and green vegetables also contain a considerable amount.

Dr. W. H. Park, the eminent baby specialist, says: "Personally I believe that if infants were placed in the direct rays of the sun for a part of each day and were fed cod liver oil for the first two or three years of life, more would be accomplished in regard to preventing decay of the teeth than in all other ways put together, and that rickets could be abolished from the earth."

Voices
 By BROOKS PETERS CHURCH

"What a nice voice Mr. Jones' secretary has!"

"I don't like that radio announcer, he has such a rasping voice."

"I'd like to give you the part, miss.
 You're just the type, but your voice is no good."

"You'd be good for the silent film, but you haven't the voice for the talkies."

And so it goes. Never were voices more important than today, when half the world seems to be doing public speaking of one kind or another.

Some are born with good voices, some achieve them, but only once in a lifetime can a good voice be thrust upon one, and that is in infancy and early childhood. The baby who is surrounded by pleasant voices and hears English, or American, if one prefers to call it that, correctly and carefully spoken, will probably develop good habits of speech unconsciously. Parents cannot be too careful about these early impressions. Even if their English is imperfect they can control the tone of voice they use. To learn to speak the language correctly in later life is easy, but to change the pitch and quality of one's voice is extremely difficult.

When the child begins to go to school and to play with other children he must be made voice-conscious. He must be taught the value of a good speaking voice, and how it is produced. Local peculiarities such as nasal twangs, flat vowel sounds, stilted consonants and unpleasant breath slip into a child's speech with alarming ease. If his attention is called to them at the outset he may avoid them.

If parents would consider how many good jobs are dependent on the applicant's tone of voice and manner of speech, they would make every effort to insure their children's futures by giving them the best possible voice advantages.

 marked gain, which had been registered in 1934, was only a temporary improvement, and that the threat of an untimely declining population has not been averted. During the curcountry has declined 11.1 per cent, while the drop of 15.5 per cent for Canada is even greater.

A Washington Daybook

By FLESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Which candidate, Landon or Roosevelt, is likely to reap most benefit from the post Senator Borah plays in this campaign?

He said when he left the Republican convention, disappointed over Landon's surprise telegram, that he had never bolted the ticket. Now, answering an inquiry by Senator Davis, Pennsylvania Republican, Borah affirms that he has "not bolted."

But samples of his campaign utterances in Idaho tend to leave the impression he is following a course not far from that of 1932 when he did not bolt, but did not help Hoover.

The situation is different now, however, in that Mr. Borah must campaign for his own re-election.
 Then he stood on the sidelines con-trarily.

Material the "Borah-day" political children are studying currently includes segments of a speech Borah made at Meriden, a little diary from outside Boise, usually selected by the senator for one of his most important campaign speeches.

There he said, first, that he was against the reciprocal trade treaty program. That was in harmony with the Republican platform (Borah insisted on that point).

Then he said, "The problem of providing relief had to be met, the people had to be fed, of course President Roosevelt was justified in spending large sums of public money." But, Borah added:

"The Republican party would have done the same thing if it had been

WPA Costs in City

City Engineer Norton reported that to date the city had expended in actual cash the sum of $102,885.41 as the city's share of the WPA program in Kingston. Adding to that the cost of equipment brought the total cost to the city to date of $151,513.52.

In the discussion that followed it was brought out that under the new scale of wages that certain types of labor worked a full week and then, having made the pay allotment, were forced to cease work for the remainder of the month. This plan held up and delayed road construction and in order that the work might not be halted the city had been hiring and paying the men to operate the street equipment when their WPA time ceased, taking the money to pay them out of the city's WPA fund.

Corporation Counsel Cashin, however, has ruled that it was not legal to spend the city's share of WPA funds for labor, but that the money could only be spent for material, supplies and equipment.

In order to observe the ruling made by the city's legal advisor it is now necessary to pay the men out of the appropriation made for home and work relief in the city, which will be done in the future. The money already spent in hiring labor to carry on street work, so that it would not be delayed, is to be replaced.

Albany WPA Blamed

Mayor Heiselman in the discussion that followed charged lack of co-operation on the part of the WPA at Albany. He stated that the state WPA refused to approve projects, and that a number of projects submitted by the city had been returned with the demand that additional expenditures of money be made by the city.

Mayor Heiselman said that Kingston was the only city that had "laid $130,000 on the line for WPA projects."

Ready For Winter

Superintendent Conway reported that all of the city's snow removal equipment had been overhauled and placed in condition and was now ready for service this winter.

Several routine matters were disposed of and the board then adjourned.

Piles Go Quick

Without Surgery or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are faulty, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then declared HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggists with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when HEM-ROID Druggists say "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe, clear way to get rid of your Piles—no matter how bad."

Landscaping Tour

On Tuesday, October 20, a landscaping tour was conducted under the auspices of the Ulster County Home Bureau.

Three stops were made to locate vines, shrubs and trees. Some of the native vines, shrubs and trees found were Flowering Dogwood, Red Osier Dogwood, Silky Dogwood, Panchled or Grey Stemmed Dogwood, Nannyberry, Arrow-wood, High-bush Cranberry, Maple leaved viburnum, Common Elderberry, Alternate leaved Dogwood, Bittersweet, Meadowsweet, Black Alder, Witch-Hazel and Poison Ivy.

Lunch was served at Mrs. Parry's tea room in High Falls where an open fire welcomed the guests after exposure in the severe cold morning.

In the afternoon a visit was made to the home of Mrs. Pietro Belli in Cottkill, to see how local shrubs and trees could be used to make grounds more attractive. This gave an opportunity for the practical adaptation of the morning's lesson on shrub identification.

The last stop was at the Mrs. C. C. Hardenbergh farm, in Stone Ridge, to see more shrubs growing in the pasture.

Everyone had a full and happy day.

Those on tour were: Mrs. Winfield Swart, Kingston, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, Kingston, Mrs. H. M. Eppes, Accord, Miss Bertha Coons, Accord, Mrs. L. W. Davis, Walkkill, Mrs. Percy Gazlay, Accord, Mrs. Sahler, Accord, Miss Bertha Snyder, Mt. Marion, Mrs. J. Young, Mt. Drive Started In Local Concerns

A drive has been started here to get Kingston home owners who are contemplating improvements on their homes to give consideration to all local building concerns. In an advertisement appearing in today's issue of The Freeman the Ulster County Roofing Company asks that local home owners give local businesses an opportunity to bid on work before giving it to out-of-town concerns. It is also pointed out that the local business men connected with the building trades are the equal of any workmanship, have quality materials and can do the work for less money.

Marlborough Seeks To Mortgage Church

An application made by the officers of the Marlborough Episcopal Church at Marlborough to county court for permission to mortgage the church property as provided by law, has been granted by County Judge Frederick G. Traver. Two-thirds of the members of the congregation voted in favor of the application, which is made by the officials of the church.

The petition recites that fact that the church was incorporated on October 23, 1880, for the purpose of conducting religious services in the village of Marlborough and that at the present time the corporation owes for janitor's bills, organist salary, notes in the First National Bank of Marlborough and for coal bills and repairs the sum of $900, and that in addition the roof of the parsonage is in need of repairs in order to preserve the structure. Application is made for leave to mortgage the property for the sum of $1,000. The total value of the property is given at $23,000 and the petition states that Minnie M. Staples of Marlborough has agreed to take the $1,000 mortgage at 5 per cent interest for a period of five years. Rusk & Rusk appear for petitioners.

gomery Saturday afternoon with Kathryn Schofield as assistant hostess. The meeting was in charge of the newly elected president, Beulah Thompson.

The New Hurley school was closed on Monday in observance of Columbus Day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brady of Kingston were Sunday guests at the Wilkin home.

The offering taken at the New Hurley Reformed Church services on Sunday morning for the benefit of the Children's Industrial Home in Kingston amounted to $22.50. There was also a donation of fruits and vegetables which will be taken to the home.

The Ladies' Aid Society will serve a hot chicken dinner at the New Hurley Reformed Church hall on Friday evening, October 23, beginning at 6:30 o'clock and continuing until all are served. The menu will be as follows: Tomato juice cocktail, creamed chicken, biscuits, mashed potatoes and gravy, turnips, cabbage salad, sweet potatoes, home made bread, and butter, lemon pie and coffee. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Stocks of the highest priced florists in the city and those of street peddlers who sell blooms for a few cents each both come from the same place. Of the city's 80 or so wholesale floral establishments, all save two are on Sixth avenue, or within a stone's throw of it, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth streets. Twenty-eighth street is the real floral capital of the town. On it, east and west of Sixth avenue, are 43 wholesale floral establishments, including one big market that houses 10 firms. A number, of course, are small establishments, which do both a wholesale and a retail business. Most, however, confine their attention to the wholesale trade. Some are specialists, dealing only in greenery of various sorts. On the whole, flowers in season play the biggest part in the business, though often out of season specialties may be noted in the window signs.

Stocks come from all over the country, from the far South and the far West, with nearby growers in New Jersey and Pennsylvania furnishing the most. Rare blooms may be seen side by side with flowers of the gardens. There is little or no attempt at display. Flowers to the dealers are merely commodities—highly perishable, but commodities nevertheless. They are handled on commission as are onions and potatoes. Business starts at about 6 o'clock in the morning and continues briskly until 8. Friday, Saturday and Monday are the big days. In fact, at certain seasons of the year, almost all the business of the market is transacted on those days.

Time plays an important part in the flower business. It explains why there are days when roses may be purchased for five cents a dozen on New York's street. Roses that go to Park avenue in the early morning, later in the day may find their way to the subway. They are the same varieties and come from the same growers especially in summer, when roses cannot be held overnight. So those still in stock late in the day are bought by peddlers at bargain prices. Speaking of roses, learned that the well-known American Beauty is no longer grown. The reason is that it couldn't always be depended upon to flower so other long-stemmed varieties have taken its place.

Flowers come into New York now by the car and truckload. The business runs into the millions each year since New York purchases more flowers than any other city in the country. There are firms in the district, however, that go back to the days when their stocks were brought in by the basketful. In those times, the flower market was at 2 in the morning.

In many of the markets, discarded, broken or wilted blooms fairly carpet the floors. They are held not to be worth picking up and are merely swept away when business is slack enough for the opportunity. In the days of the epidemic during the war, that did not hold true. So great was the flower shortage then that discarded stock was gathered up and sold for at least a nickel a flower.

Eleven florists supply shops also are located in the wholesale flower district. Intricate designs for set pieces, or rather the frames for them, are available in almost unbelievable variety. For instance, it is possible to purchase a model which when properly decked out turns into an ocean liner. Floral cottages as well as floral musical instruments are also available.

Repays His Relief Cash
After He Got Job Back
 Paterson, N. J., — Amir Hossan, forty-seven year old Arabian born dye worker, has paid in full what he regards a debt to the city's emergency relief department.

Hossan, during a period of unemployment, received checks totaling $29.10 from James O'Gorman, overseer of the poor. He took the money under protest. Last month when he obtained employment he turned over $10 from his first pay check to O'Gorman with the promise that he would pay the remainder as soon as possible. Later Hossan cleared up the balance of $19.10.

Something different in campaign issues is found in F. P. A.'s "Conning Tower" column in the New York Herald Tribune. A friend writes that he will give his vote to the candidate who will "set the calendar back one month on June 1st—call it May 1st—and it will be bright and warm and Septemberish all through October." Daylight saving time always confuses certain people, and calendar saving seems to have confused this reformer. Wouldn't his calendar shift really give him November weather in October? There's something to argue.

Even a single beautiful specimen of a tree will greatly enhance the beauty and increase the value of a home. If such a tree is lost, it cannot be quickly replaced except at great cost. Feed your trees this fall—it is the best insurance against loss. As soon as the trees are dormant, in late October or early November, apply a complete, balanced plant food containing all the elements necessary to healthy growth. Follow the directions of the manufacturer.

How to Overcome Piles or Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from your druggist a little Ise-Mint and apply once or twice daily. This relieves the itching and soreness, stops pain and heals the affected parts. Try it. Ise-Mint is highly recommended and is easy and pleasant to use. It seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy that is so easy to use may be had at such small cost.—Ad.

College Women's Club Meeting

The Kingston College Women's Club met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. William Kraft at her home, 130 Fair street. Mrs. William Haddock, president, conducted the meeting and regular reports were given by both the treasurer and secretary. The latter read a letter from Miss Marcia Brown, winner of the club's $100 scholarship for 1936-1937, thanking the club for this gift. Mrs. James J. Murphy, Jr., and Miss Elsie Rice of the extension committee both gave interesting accounts of pertinent happenings in different women's colleges in the east. Miss Ethel M. Hull, chairman of the program committee, then reminded the members that each one was expected to enroll in one of the special study groups: Drama, book study, forum, music.

Miss Dorothy Brooks, as chairman of the membership committee, presented the names of five candidates for membership, all of whom were unanimously accepted: Mrs. Kenneth P. Anderson with a B. S. degree from the University of Illinois; Miss Elizabeth Flemming, A. B., American University; Miss Rosalene Preston, A. B., Wellesley College; Mrs. William Kraft, A. B., Vassar College; Mrs. J. Rabin, A. B., Hunter College.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Anita Smith of Woodstock, who took as her topic "Folk Lore and History of Ulster County and the Catskills." Miss Smith's talk was largely devoted to the background of Woodstock, the section with which she is naturally most familiar. She gave a brief summary of that town's history, explaining that it was a part of the Hardenburgh grand secured from the Indians in 1707 for £60. The following year Queen Anne issued a patent. The section around Woodstock soon came into the possession of a Robert Livingston, who to induce settlers to come there gave to his tenants three life living leases. It was when these leases expired upon the death of grandsons of the original settlers that the famous Rent Wars broke out. And Woodstock, like Delhi and other Catskill mountain towns, was the center of many lawless demonstrations in the refusal of the farmers either to return their lands to the heirs of the original owners or to continue paying the quick rent. Finally the election of an anti-rent governor, legislation was passed which after a certain lapse of time secured the land to the tenants.

Miss Smith also drew a vivid picture of these mountain villages in Colonial days and their isolation. Great virgin forests of hemlocks, infested with wolves and wildcats and almost impassable swamps lay between Woodstock and Kingston. The Tories, when they fled from Kingston during the Revolution, took refuge in Woodstock. So small was Woodstock that it had no church of its own and the people made the long journey to Katsbaan. It was during one of these pilgrimages that a band of Indians and Tories surprised a party of colonists and bore them captive to Montreal.

The third part of the speaker's talk was devoted to a rehearsal of legends of witches and witchcraft that had grown up in connection with the earlier inhabitants.

Following Miss Smith's interesting talk, the guests enjoyed a social hour when refreshments were served. The hostesses for the evening were Miss Agnes Scott Smith, chairman; Miss Laura Bailey, Mrs. Gerard Betts, Miss Mary Bott, Mrs. Hamilton Boyd, Miss Margaret Cordes, Mrs. Bertha Dennison, Mrs. David DuBois, Mrs. Robert Haley, Mrs. Hubert Hoderath, Miss Jane Maisterstock and Miss May Quimby.

Wiltwyck Chapter To Meet Friday

Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will observe Chapter Day, Friday, October 16, at 3 p. m. in the Chapter House. Mrs. Frank Seamon of Yama Farms will be the guest speaker on the subject, "Colonial China."

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, Oct. 15.—The activities of the Lake Katrine Home Bureau during the summer months consisted of a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Mary Munson followed by a lesson in landscaping; and a picnic at the camp of Mrs. William Powers in Glenrie, at which Miss Parsons, the county agent, attended and reviewed the program for the year.

Bally Day was held late in September at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Parish. The following members and visitors were present: Mrs. Hubert Brink, chairman; Mrs. William Powers, Mrs. Earl Sagenodt, Mrs. Mary Munson, Mrs. Ruppert Everett, Mrs. C. Philip Hendricks, Mrs. James Forman, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. James Pfeiffer, Mrs. Donald Parish, Mrs. R. Van Etten, Mrs. Edward Sagenodt, Mrs. Carl Willie, Mrs. H. Schuler, Mrs. E. Krom, Miss Margaret Larimann, Mrs. Auley Roosa, Miss E. Parsons, Mrs. Kenneth Parish. There was a short business meeting at which time Miss Parsons made some corrections in the unit program. The secretary's and treasurer's offices were vacant and the following were unanimously elected: Secretary, Mrs. William Powers; treasurer, Mrs. Earl Sagenodt. Some games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Richard Van Etten, Mrs. George Adams and Mrs. William Powers.

Mrs. Donald Parish was hostess on October 8 at the first lesson of the fall season. There were 11 members present. The lesson on table coverings was given by Mrs. Kenneth Parish and proved very interesting and instructive. It was further enjoyed because the stitching samples left in the county by the instructor from Cornell College were in Lake Katrine that day. Tea was served and a social hour was enjoyed until the late afternoon as the ladies were enthused in copying the simple but effective stitches.

Recent streamline tendencies are being modified in the new models, and automobiles after all are not going to look quite like potato bugs.

AMERICA'S HIGHEST PEAK PHOTOGRAPHED

Mt. McKinley and Environs Registered on Film.

Washington, D. C.—North America's highest peak—Mt. McKinley in Alaska, rising to an altitude of 29,000 feet—has, for the first time, been photographed intimately from the air. The pictures, both still and in motion, were taken by Bradford Washburn, leader of the National Geographic society's Mt. McKinley expedition sent to Alaska last July, who has just made a preliminary report to the society's headquarters here. Some of the photographs were made on infra-red-sensitive film.

In a series of four flights from the Pan American Airways base at Fairbanks, Alaska, Mr. Washburn succeeded in photographing a vast expanse of the rugged terrain between Mt. McKinley and Mt. Hayes.

Use Infra-Red Ray.

The pictures reveal the highest territory under the American flag. They also mark the first use, in the region, of infra-red ray photography, which makes it possible for the same photograph to show the town of Fairbanks and the white summits of Mt. McKinley and its related peaks projecting above the horizon more than a hundred miles away across a haze-obscured plain.

The infra-red photographs show why Mt. McKinley can claim one of the greatest heights, from top to bottom, among the world's mountains, since it rises 20,000 feet from a level plain almost without foothills. Mt. Everest, although 29,000 feet above sea level, actually rises only about 10,000 feet above a lofty plateau region. Because of its near Arctic latitude, Mt. McKinley has a very low timber line and is forbiddingly barren, Mr. Washburn points out. Its expanses of snow and glacier do not completely cover all its jagged rocky ridges.

After flying 500 feet above the top of Mt. McKinley, despite dangerous air currents, and circling the peak several times, Mr. Washburn flew straight along the axis of the mountains, taking close range photographs in pairs, stereoscopic fashion, at intervals of a minute. He thus obtained a progressive series showing the various peaks in their true relations to one another.

World's Highest Cliff.

The photographs prove conclusively the location of Mt. Hunter, a peak more than 15,000 feet high, about which accurate information has been so scarce that its very existence has been denied. This mountain, although perhaps higher than any in the United States proper, is actually dwarfed to relative insignificance by its towering neighbors, Mt. McKinley and Mt. Foraker, the latter 17,000 feet high.

Photographs of every angle of Mt. McKinley reveal a giant of almost unrealizable magnitude, massive to very top. Its steeply sloping western face has been called the world's highest cliff—an almost sheer drop of over three miles. The southern side, however, is perhaps more impressive; although only about two miles deep, its wall is perpendicular. Only three expeditions have been known to scale Mt. McKinley.

On the survey flights, Mr. Washburn was accompanied by Pilot S. E. Robins, Radio Engineer Bob Gleason, and A. L. Washburn, assistant. Bradford Washburn was also the leader of the National Geographic society's Yukon expedition of 1933 which explored and photographed nearly 5,000 square miles of unknown territory near the Canadian-Alaskan border. On that expedition he discovered two new peaks in Canadian territory, naming them for King George and Queen Mary of England.

X-Ray Utilized to Test

Quality of Vegetables

Minneapolis, Minn.—One of Minnesota's vegetable growers' greatest problems—that of ascertaining the quality of their products—has been solved by a University of Minnesota plant physiologist. R. B. Harvey of the university farm has perfected a method by which he can peer into the heart of potatoes and other agricultural products. Employing the use of an X-ray and a physician's fluoroscope, Harvey can detect those vegetables with hollow hearts and thus rate accurately products by testing samples in large quantities.

Six Bachelors Sole

Population of Town

St. Paul, Minn.—In the hills of western Minnesota lies the incorporated village of Dale. It has a population of six and all are bachelors.

They are Jerome Given, Knute Knutson, John Jonson, and three Carlson brothers, George, Alfred, and Olof. The general store, founded by Andrew L. Jensen, who died last April, is the lonely stamping ground of these bachelors. The town's postoffice, Northern Pacific railway agency, and telephone are in the same building. There is a shanty depot, however, and a church where the Rev. James Holland of nearby Hawley preaches sermons every other Sunday.

Union Party Names Off Ballot Until Decision Is Made

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15 (UP)—A temporary restraining order today barred the names of Union party candidates and presidential electors from the New York state ballot.

The order requiring Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn to show cause why the Union party should not be barred from the ballot was issued yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Gilbert V. Schenck. It is returnable October 20.

At the same time, Justice Schenck instructed Flynn to notify all election boards of the state not to print the names on the ballot pending further argument in the proceedings next Tuesday.

Both orders were obtained by William E. Drislane and Dr. O. A. Brennstuhl, Albany Democrats, who protested the Union party petitions. They charged that the Union ticket was entered "at the instance of the Republican state committee."

The court action followed less than 24 hours after the Union party, supported by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, filed a new state ticket to replace the one withdrawn last week.

The ticket was complete with the exception of a nominee for lieutenant governor. The election bureau announced yesterday that Orrin Parker, of Jamestown, designated for that office, had not filed his consent by midnight Tuesday, the deadline for such action.

Court action by Drislane and Dr. Brennstuhl followed the rejection of their protest last week by Secretary Flynn. The secretary also rejected protests filed by Leo Mangan, of Jamaica, against nominating petitions of the American Labor party. Mangan did not contest Flynn's ruling and the Labor party was declared eligible for the ballot yesterday. It is supporting President Roosevelt and Governor Lehman.

Meanwhile petitions of the Social Labor party were declared invalid by Supreme Court Justice Sidney Foster, ruling on the protest filed by Louis Shapiro, of New York city. Unless its appeals successfully to a higher court, the party will not get on the state ballot. Its gubernatorial nominee is Aaron M. Orange, of New York city.

Shapiro claimed that addresses were missing for signers of the party's petitions in all but five counties of the state.

FLATBUSH.

Flatbush, Oct. 15.—The Women's Missionary Society of the Flatbush Reformed Church will hold its annual "kaffee klatsch" on Friday afternoon, October 16, at 2:30 o'clock. The program planned by Mr. and Mrs. Elling should prove novel and interesting and the community as well as friends from neighboring communities are cordially invited to come and "klatsch" with the ladies of the society.

William H. Kuehn attended the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Co. convention held at the Hotel Syracuse in Syracuse recently.

Mrs. Clara Osterhoudt spent the week-end with Miss Etta Thomas.

William H. Kuehn and Jack Dempsey of Kingston attended the recent Yale-Cornell football game held at the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn., October 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Thomas and son, Alan, of Middle Village, L. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schubert and son, Wayne, of Richmond Hill, were Columbus holiday guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dimmiller.

Mr. and Mrs. John Merrill and son, Raymond, spent Sunday with relatives in Albany.

The school taxes are being collected by the collector, Fred W. Kunk. After October 22, 5 per cent will be charged.

Little Frank Osterhoudt, who was operated on last week at the Heumidline Hospital, is getting along nicely under the care of Dr. Gilford

His many friends will be glad to know.

The T. X. T. Club will serve a hamburger supper on Tuesday, October 20, at the club house. The public is cordially invited to come and dine with the members.

Apples for breakfast will hold the calories down, clear up the digestive tract, change the intestinal flora, provide the vitamins and minerals in their most form and furnish real energy for the day's work. "An apple diet keeps the fat away," is true.

middle west still comes to paint, to write, and to live. The noble sidewalk stairs of the Hotel Brevort have been carted away—but still a thousand easels take their daily buffings. Towering apartment houses have replaced the fine-formed Colonial mansions on the west side of the Square, but a thousand lumps of sculptor's clay still receive the batterings and caresses of art's minions. No change—not even the bitter-tinged obituaries of old-timers mourning the end of the Village—has diminished the population or the artistic outpourings of Bohemia.

The Village, say the cynical, is a state of mind. Actually, it lies within certain specified areas, bounded on the north by 14th street, on the south by Little Italy. Enterprising new arrivals, spurred by cheaper rents, have trudged east and west to the two rivers. Crooked streets, some cobblestoned; Colonial houses, fireplaces, sidewalk cafes and dimly lit rendezvous of the intelligentsia, have drawn them where time, if not rents, has stood still.

Here, also, in America's largest city, are the museums, the art galleries. And here, in spring and fall, the houses that gird Washington Square suddenly blossom forth in canvases. There are hundreds of them—with intent, self-conscious artists, their creators, guarding them; explaining them, expostulating with prospective clients. It is the time of the outdoor art show, when uptowners flock in droves to the Village, seeking to pick up a masterpiece for a song. The first show, spring of 1932, brought the exhibitors $9,716, with several thousand more in commissions. The show last a week or ten days and have averaged $3,500 in sales.

PLATSMEN HOME BUREAU WOMEN ON VISIT

On Thursday, October 8, the members of the Flatbush Home Bureau motored to visit their member, Mrs. George Rowe, at her home, Rowstone Farm, and her sister, Mrs. George Brown, who is visiting there. It being an ideal day, the ladies enjoyed the ride and the autumn scenery, the most beautiful being the spacious view of the mountains and country as seen from Mrs. Rowe's home.

Shortly after arriving Mrs. Rowe served a most delicious lunch, after which the ladies made a tour of the farm, which was very interesting and beautiful. Following the tour all gathered on the porch and a business meeting held and the project lesson, "Table Coverings," which consists of proper use of table covering and dishes, was given by Mrs. Brown. At about 4:30 the ladies all departed, thanking Mrs. Rowe for their very pleasant visit. The members in the party were Mrs. C. Ducker, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. S. Rider, Mrs. William Swart, Mrs. H. Durling, Mrs. F. Kukul, Miss E. Hill, Mrs. A. Paley, Mrs. E. Pothemout, Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. S. Post, Mrs. A. Osterhoudt, Mrs. H. Osterhoudt, Mrs. George Rowe, Mrs. George Brown.

Motor Vehicle Registration Gains

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—In the first eight months of 1936 the number of motor vehicles registered in this state was 2,414,111. This is a gain of 124,528 over the registration in the same period of 1935, according to a statement made public by Charles A. Harnett, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. The number of passenger cars registered in 1936 up to September 1 was 2,025,288, a gain of 102,395 over the first eight months of 1935. Other classes of motor vehicles were listed as follows: Commercial cars, 304,553, an increase of 11,650. Trailers, 25,981, an increase of 6,139. Suburban cars, 10,069, an increase of 1,111.

The number of motorcycles registered in 1936 up to September 1 was 10,238, a decrease of 435 compared with the first eight months of 1935. The gross receipts of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in the first eight months of 1936 was $44,608, a gain of $2,704,380, compared with the same months of 1935. Each month of the present year showed a gain in receipts, except February.

Let's MAKE HOMEWORK EASIER

The pressure of modern schoolwork is burdensome enough at the best. The home ought at least to provide proper conditions for home study. A quiet, comfortable spot with proper lighting is the right of every student.

Many homes that are otherwise modern, provide lighting for study or reading that is quite inadequate. Unfortunately, the eyes themselves do not detect poor lighting. It shows only in difficulty of concentration, sleepiness and general nervous strain.

Today a standard for correct and adequate lighting is available in the I.E.S. Better-Sight Lamp, especially designed to save eyesight. This lamp is certified by the Illuminating Engineering Society as correct for reading and study. Nearly two million of these lamps are already in use in American homes. See them today at your local dealers.

Dr. Helbing Tells Rotary About Youth

Rich in personal reminiscence and an understanding backed by 37 years of experience, Dr. Fred Helbing, superintendent of the New York State Vocational Institute at Coxsack, alarmed and interested the members and guests at Rotary in the Governor Clinton Wednesday noon as he probed deep into the root of America's most vital problem, the education and development of the nation's youth. As a man whose life has been devoted to the question of youthful delinquency, Dr. Helbing spoke with a sincere and compelling authority and his message seemed to convey the meaning that a great building or a great nation is only as good as its foundation. For the young man of today will be the bulwark of America's business and social life tomorrow, and the speaker wondered and questioned the value of their present day training. Is of their training the youth of today for the task of earning a living later? Are the parents to blame for the alarming rise in youthful delinquency? What is the church doing to interest youth in religion? These are some of the questions Dr. Helbing asked his audience and the sum total of his remarks echoed his belief that much of the responsibility rested squarely upon the shoulders of the parents who took no interest in the development of their children. Citing case after case to prove his point, the speaker showed how far removed from a mutual understanding are thousands of parents and their children. No effort is made to help growing boys and girls through the dangerous age of their development. They go their way unguided and a family's wealth or position becomes no barrier to crime and vice. Dr. Helbing gave a brief outline of the work being done at the Coxsack institution during his talk. He stated that the institution could house well over 500 boys, that the place was equipped with every modern necessity, with a gymnasium, auditorium, dining hall, medical care and work shops created for training purposes. "It costs the taxpayer about $1,000 a year for each boy housed in the institution," said the speaker, "and this is a lot of money when one realizes it costs the public about $300 a year to educate a boy or girl in the schools. I am trying to keep boys out of my institution and the only way it can be done is to prevent delinquency before it reaches the stage where a boy is forced to enter the Vocational Institution at Coxsack."

Dr. Helbing, through personal research, has made a considerable study of the breeding places of crime. To him, the slum districts of the big and little cities, the gambling places and pool halls, were breeders of crime and were frequented by young men because of no other place to go. "Do parents take enough interest to make the home a place for their children?" the speaker asked. "What does the church offer young people? Does the school take any interest in them after they have graduated from elementary or high school?" Dr. Helbing believed that the answer was "no" to these questions and it was his earnest plea that men and women take a greater interest in the growing boys and girls of this country.

"You who have never been in my field of work have never seen a young man go to the electric chair," said the speaker. "I wish that all of you might witness an execution. It would make you think and realize that the education of youth begins in the high chair, not in the electric chair."

Mayor Helmsman of Kingston and Mayor Wendell Phillips of Port Jervis were guests at the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Joseph Morgan, chairman of the program committee.

WHEN IT COSTS SO LITTLE TO TELEPHONE

THOUSANDS of young people are now away from home in schools and colleges in every part of the country. There's going to be lots of fun, excitement and hard work in the next ten months, but they're going to miss you folks back home just as surely as you'll miss them.

There's an easy way to overcome those pangs of separation. Just arrange to have your boy or girl telephone you regularly, once a week, at about the same time. It will give you both something to look forward to. You'll both feel better for it.

You'll find that with the new low Long Distance rates in effect after 7 p. m. and all day Sunday—these weekly calls will mean a great deal and cost surprisingly little. A few typical rates are shown on the right. For others, just ask the operator.

The MAGIC VOICE
Radio's Newest Miracle!

Grouped in RCA Victor's unique tone chamber are 5 gleaming tone control pipes. You will never see them. They require no attention, nor adjustment. But sound flowing through this, silvery, corridor loses all mechanical quality. "Boon" is trapped. Distorted notes are reformed to true quality. The program flows directly into the room... reaches you as the microphone hears it. You listen to radio as you have wished it might be. This is the Magic Voice... the "Magic Brain" given new realism, new truth, new beauty.

Board of Elections May Ask Longer Vote in New York

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Faced with an unprecedented registration, the board of elections today considered an appeal to Governor Lehman for a special session of the legislature to authorize a three-hour extension of New York city's voting day in November.

Nearly 2,900,000 voters—560,000 more than ever before—are qualified to cast ballots, and the board said it would be impossible to accommodate all of them in the regulation hours of 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The board figures that postponement of the closing hour to 9 p. m. and installation of 212 additional voting machines in the largest districts would solve the problem. Otherwise, it was said, paper ballots would have to be used in Queens, the Bronx and Richmond boroughs.

Governor Lehman declined to comment on the special session proposal last night, pending an official request. It was pointed out, however, that agreement of party leaders would enable the assembly to complete the necessary amending of the election law in a 15-minute meeting. Protests might prolong the session to three days.

Candidates and Issues

By the Associated Press.

Enroute—Governor Landon, campaigning in Indiana, says he fights waste "because I am opposed to the ultimate confiscation of farms and homes."

Enroute—President Roosevelt heads for Detroit after declaring at Chicago that the New Deal fights, not private enterprise, but "abuse of the power of concentrated wealth."

Springfield, Ill.—Colonel Frank Knox calls Minnesota Farmer-Labor platform "pure Socialism" and asks if President Roosevelt favors it.

Canton, O.—Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) declares Alfred E. Smith's walk will lead "through a cemetery with overhanging cypress boughs."

Dallas, Tex.—Representative William Lemke endorses "any old age pension plan that provides an honest living."

En route—William F. Blaskley says he's for social security but differs with Democrats on method of administering it; continues upstate campaign for governorship.

New York—Governor Lehman pledges "humane" state administration, hears Tammany vow its support of him and President Roosevelt, then heads upstate on campaign tour.

Two Shakespearean Plays Here Oct. 22

The James Hendrickson & Claire Bruce Company, Shakespearean players from New York city will present at the Kingston High School Auditorium on October 22 "Julius Caesar" and "Macbeth." The company is being brought here through the efforts of Principal Clarence Dumas. "Julius Caesar" will be presented in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and

"Macbeth" in the evening at 8:15 o'clock. The company management announces that the supporting cast for the performances in Kingston here will include in addition to Mr. Hendrickson and Miss Bruce the following: John Burke, Frank Howson, Margaret Gibb, Antonia Grey, Forbes Francis, Betty Woodson, Albert Blackstone, Francis X. Martin, Jr., and Martin Wells. New and handsome settings have been designed for this season's tour and reports from other cities mention the beautiful stage picture achieved.

Two Chiropractors Highly Honored

Charles C. Froude, chiropractor, and Benton J. Kaplan, chiropractor, of this city, have just been highly honored by being appointed to the administrative board of the Chiropractic Foundation being established at Staatsburg.

Dr. Harry R. Maltz of Poughkeepsie, president of the Chiropractic Foundation, has publicly announced the gift of 75 acres of the beautiful estate of John Ettl, world renowned sculptor at Staatsburg, for the establishment of a convalescent home and laboratory.

Expressing his opinion that the gift will be an outstanding milestone in the practice of chiropractic in New York state, Dr. Maltz further announced that John E. Black, Jr., attorney, of Poughkeepsie, had accepted the chairmanship of the board of trustees, Charles C. Froude, chiropractor of Kingston, has also been appointed a trustee and Benton J. Kaplan, chiropractor of this city, has been appointed to the board of examiners for membership to the Foundation.

The land donated by Mr. Ettl extends either side of the East Park-Rhinebeck road soon to be reconstructed and is part of the 250-acre estate purchased by the sculptor a few years ago.

It is expected that the first construction at the Foundation's new home will include a barracks-type main building somewhat like the CCC Camp in use at Staatsburg, and the laboratory for advanced work and experimentation in chiropractic.

Dr. Maltz is quoted as saying: "Chiropractors have long felt the need for such an institution which would provide the outdoor recreation which is so necessary in most cases when the patient is convalescing. This gift by Mr. Ettl makes possible the realization of a dream I have long cherished for the establishment of a foundation and home for the care and treatment of patients and for the furtherance of the profession of chiropractic."

It is expected that the foundation will construct buildings, provide an artificial lake from creek waters now passing through the land and provide other necessary conveniences besides roads.

The institution is to be entirely non-sectarian where people of all creeds or none, will be cared for and it will provide a charitable foundation and home for those unable to pay for the care and treatment necessary for recovery.

The board of trustees, who will administer the affairs of the foundation includes John E. Mack, Jr., former District Attorney, Allen S. Reynolds, former Supreme Court Justice, Morchauser, who is an honorary life member of the Foundation, all of Poughkeepsie; Dr. Alexander Slavson of New York; Dr. Charles C. Froude of Kingston; Dr. Charles Hoffman of Poughkeepsie; Dr. Alma C. Arnold of New York; John Ettl, Oliver Darwin, George Herman, and Dr. James G. Solomon of Poughkeepsie and Dr. Rolf Roseland of Brooklyn. A minister, a rabbi and a priest will later be named.

Members of the board of directors at present include Dr. Maltz, Dr. Mary E. Goble, Mr. Stiles, Dr. Roseland, Annette Errante and Franklin J. Schultz.

Mr. Ettl, who so generously gave the land which will make the Foundation possible, was born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1872. His father was sculptor for the royal family of Austria-Hungary and his mother, who was of French descent, was a painter of note. One of the outstanding masterpieces by Mr. Ettl, who has risen to the top of his profession in this country, is known as the Orton Memorial on Estes Park Island, the tallest island in the world. It was designed by the sculptor as a permanent monument to the eminent scientist, James Orton, whose grave it marks and is the gift of Vassar College alumnae, for Professor Orton was for several years an honored member of the Vassar College faculty.

Only by the eradication of all wild red raspberries within a radius of 1,000 feet of healthy cultivated black raspberries can one hope to prevent the spread of mosaic in his planting, declares Prof. L. M. Cooley, plant disease specialist at the State Experiment Station at Geneva.

To All Who Suffer From Acute Attacks ASTHMA - BRONCHITIS

Persistent Coughs

Two or three doses of the famous MCKELEY'S MISTURE is sufficient to soothe and stop a cough just before it settles into a chronic habit. Asthma-Bronchitis sufferers, after a coughing fit, you'll sleep sound and wake refreshed if you will be just wise enough to take 2 or 3 doses before you go to bed.

Note—While MCKELEY'S is not offered as a cure for Asthma or Bronchitis it will give immediate relief from that choking, gasping struggle for breath.

MCKELEY'S MISTURE is sold by all good druggists on a guarantee—full satisfaction or your money back—A. R.

STATE OF NEW YORK COUNTY COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER.—In the Matter of the Application of JOHN PAUL ALLEN, to have his name changed.

Upon reading and filing the petition of John Paul Allen verified the 3rd day of October, 1936, praying that the name of the said JOHN PAUL ALLEN be changed to the name of JOHN PAUL ALLEN in place of the present name, and the court being satisfied by said petition that the same is true and that it is reasonable and proper to change the name, proposed, and on motion of Michael McGinnis, after due notice, the said John Paul Allen be and he is hereby authorized to assume the name of JOHN PAUL ALLEN in place of the name of JOHN PAUL ALLEN, and after the 15th day of November, 1936, and it is further

ORDERED, That this order be entered on the records of this court and that the said John Paul Allen be and he is hereby authorized to assume the name of JOHN PAUL ALLEN in place of the name of JOHN PAUL ALLEN, and after the 15th day of November, 1936, and it is further WITNESSED my hand and the seal of said court at Kingston, New York, this 15th day of October, 1936.

FDR PROMISES OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUTH

President Roosevelt, in a platform talk in Kansas City, said the highest duty of government was "to order public affairs so that opportunities for youth shall be made ever broader and firmer." The President and Mrs. Roosevelt were welcomed to Missouri by Gov. Guy Park (extreme right in car) and Mayor Bryce Smith of Kansas City, shown shaking hands with Mrs. Roosevelt. KANSANS TURN OUT AS FDR INVADES LONDON HOME

Whipping his western political campaign into Kansas, home grounds of Gov. Alf M. Landon, his G.O.P. opponent, President Roosevelt (indicated by arrow) evoked cheers from a capacity crowd in Lawrence, stadium at Wichita with an attack on "political bedtime stories." Such, he said, were the charges that his administration fostered "class distinctions." A portion of the crowd is shown above as the President entered the stadium in his automobile. "Wally" Simpson Will Sue For Divorce for in testimony by hotel employees, that the man, accompanied by woman, was known to have spent the period at the hotel.

Identifying evidence, from hotel witnesses is introduced into the record that the wife is not the woman who was registered and the misconduct allegation is deemed complete.

The actual date of the Simpson hearing has not been set although the general hearings in the Ipswich court open October 27.

Quiet Husband.

While the goings-and-comings of his pretty wife have been widely publicized, the British public has learned little of the quiet studious Simpson who prefers reading a book by his own fireside to dancing in night clubs.

The smartly-tailored husband—who declined an invitation to accompany his wife on the royal vacation cruise this summer in the Adriatic Sea—has won a reputation as a hard-working businessman.

His commercial activities, together with his love of quiet domesticity—his friends believe—may have contributed somewhat to the rift in the Simpson household. Both he and his wife have been married twice.

Married 1928.

The Simpsons were married in London on July 21, 1928. Mrs. Simpson who made her debut in Baltimore in 1913, first was married to Lieutenant E. Winfield Spencer, Jr., of the United States Navy. Their marriage ended in divorce in 1927.

Simpson, a native of New York but a British subject, is a Harvard graduate, class of '19. He has been in the ship chartering business for some years, with his father. His first wife was Dorothea Parsons Dechert. They were divorced.

Parent-Teacher Associations

P.-T. A. School No. 5
The regular meeting of the P.-T. A. of School No. 5 was held Tuesday, October 13. Besides the teachers, over 40 parents were present to enjoy the following program, given by the fifth grade pupils under the direction of Miss Hession and Miss Brennan, teachers:

Dance—Geraldine and Margaret Gardner, accompanied by Irving Gardner.

Play—The Discovery of America—Queen Isabella Gloria Schantz
King Ferdinand Robert Steeger
Columbus Eugene Yallum Court Attendant Lester Morton
Page William Paulus
Announcer William Werner and Robert Hillis

Sailors—Robert Kolts, Mervin DeGraff, Robert Lown, Jacob Sabie, Robert Hines, Richard Dunn, Indians—Mary Darling, Betty Holstein, David Swart, Rawlson Delevan, John Slizewski, William Nickerson.

Poem—Columbus—Gloria Storms and Gloria Newman
Song—Columbus and The Sailors Entire Grade 5

During the business meeting, conducted by the vice president, Mrs. George Hudler, it was announced that Miss Marsh's room upstairs and Miss Wachmeyer's room downstairs had won the prizes for the membership contest. Delegates to the recent P.-T. A. conference gave their reports. It was also announced that the night of Friday, November 13, had been chosen for a public card party to be given at the school building. Before the meeting adjourned Mrs. Fred Schwenk was elected president for this year. Ice cream and cake were served by the hospitality committee. Mrs. Miles, chairman, Miss Hession's room had the most parents present.

No. 8 P.-T. A.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 8 was held Tuesday evening, October 13, at 7:30.

The president spoke of the Hobby Clubs that will be formed by the pupils of the school. At the conference of the Parent-Teacher Association held at the Governor Clinton Hotel last week, School No. 8 gave an inspiring report. Its story was very well told by Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, who was responsible for giving the pageant.

Some time in November movies will be shown at the school to help pay for two school radios the association voted to purchase. Delicious refreshments were served.

HURLEY SCHOOL NOTES

ATTENDANCE FOR MONTH

Hurley, Oct. 15—Hurley School started its new school year September 3, with a registration of 96 pupils.

The following is a report of each room furnished by the teacher of that division:

The pupils of the first and second grades have moved to the town hall due to the overcrowded conditions that existed in the Hurley School house. The first floor of the building has been improved and equipped to meet all the necessary requirements of a classroom. There are 29 pupils registered in the town hall.

The following pupils have had perfect attendance: Daniel Malcolm, Bobby Skerritt, Solomon Smith, Ronald Stagg, Charles Stauble, Nelson Walker, Harold Stewart, Shirley Elliott, Mary Hasbrouck, Ruth E. Pallen, Mary Smith, Doris Wagner, Clara Walker, Susan Walker, Catherine Yerry, Lillian Yerry.

The primary pupils and their teacher are very grateful to the pastor and consistory of the Hurley Church for the use of the chairs and blackboard and to Louis Brown for keeping the group supplied with water, and for the football which he donated to the children and to Mr. Kent for his contribution of magazines.

Deer Season Opens But Not in Catskills

By the Associated Press.

The opening of the 1936 deer hunting season in New York state found an army of more than 80,000 hunters licensed to take deer.

They paid more than $100,000 for licenses alone and only one out of ten will bring home a deer, the State Conservation Department said, basing its estimate on last year's kill of 8,000 deer.

Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborn warned that about 20 hunters are killed and 50 to 100 wounded each season.

"I wish every hunter would remember two things," Osborn said. "First, be careful where and when you shoot, and second, try to avoid setting fire to the woods."

One buck a season with not less than three inch antlers may be taken between now and November 15 in the counties of Clinton, Essex, Fulton, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Oneida, Saratoga, St. Lawrence, Warren, Oswego, and Washington.

The season in the Catskills and nearby counties does not open until November 1. Outside these two regions, deer may not be taken at all in this state.

The open season of pheasant, partridge, rabbits and varying hares open Monday, October 19 followed on November 1 with the opening of the duck season.

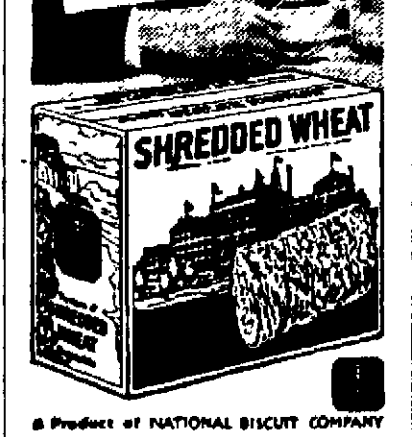

INSTALLING REFRIGERATION EQUIPMENT AT MARKET

Contract for refrigeration in Harry Beck's new market on Broadway has been awarded to Ernest C. Renn, 105 E. Chester street, who is installing a four-ton latest type Vilter Compressor with full automatic control. Proper refrigeration being essential to good health and good service, Mr. Beck has made this selection, and when the job is completed he will have a modern and efficient refrigeration system.

A Product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Introduced by Alderman Robertson LOCAL LAW NO. 2 of the Year 1935 (Known as Local Law No. 16 of the City of Kingston)

A Local Law pursuant to the provisions of Section 15 of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, known as the General City Law, as amended. It is enacted by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, as follows:

Section 1. All theatres of the City of Kingston exhibiting films which have been licensed by the Education Department of the State of New York, may admit children over the age of 16 years, and under the age of 18 years, accompanied by a parent, guardian or other adult person, provided said theatre procures a license from the City of Kingston, New York, as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. Each theatre in the City of Kingston must apply to the Mayor of said city, through its owner, operator or manager, for a license to admit children over the age of 16 years and under the age of 18 years, accompanied by a parent, guardian or other adult person, such application must state that a separate section of seats have been set aside on the main or balcony floor of the theatre to be used exclusively by children, and to which adults are not to be admitted. Such application must also contain a statement that the owner, operator or manager of said theatre will provide a duly licensed matron for said section.

Section 3. No person shall act as a matron for such section in any theatre in the City of Kingston, until said person shall duly apply to the Mayor of the said City of Kingston for a license to act as such matron.

Section 4. Immediately upon receipt of said application as provided in Section 2 hereof, the Mayor shall investigate as to the moral fitness and qualifications of said applicant, and if satisfied shall thereupon issue a license to said person upon the payment to the City of Kingston of a license fee of Two Dollars.

Section 5. Immediately upon receipt of said application as provided in Section 2 hereof, the Mayor shall thereupon issue a license to said theatre, specifying the section of seats in said theatre as set aside for children, and the matron must be identified by a sign or signs reading: "Children's Section."

Musical Society Held Recital

Agala people in Kingston who enjoy good music were indebted to the Musical Society of Kingston for an evening of very enjoyable music on Wednesday when they presented a particularly pleasing program at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

Miss Eva Clinton, president of the society, cordially welcomed the audience and then made two announcements. The first was to the effect that as Ethel Knapp Wood would be unable on account of illness to sing the number, "O Divine Redeemer" by Gounod, with organ and piano accompaniment and violin obligato, Mrs. Wolferstels would sing the aria from "Il Bacio", and that owing to the contralto having laryngitis the number, "Quis Est Homo" from the "Stabat Mater", by Rossini, which was to have been sung by Josephine Mortell Dederick, and Eva Clinton, with Mrs. Eldinge at the organ, would have to be abandoned.

Ella O. Eldinge, organist of the Fair Street Reformed Church, opened the program with "Serenade" by Andrews, a very pleasing organ composition admirably played.

Jessie Wolferstels was in particularly good voice and sang the aria from "Il Bacio" artistically.

One of the best enjoyed numbers of the evening was the trio, "Andante Espressivo," from the Trio, Opus 66 by Mendelssohn, played by Florence W. Cubbely, violinist; Mary Gray Legg, violoncellist; Lelia R. Decker, organist. The composition itself was particularly appealing and the musicianship of the players, shown in the excellent ensemble, the excellent phrasing and finished legato was a joy to listen to.

Two vocal ensemble numbers were next on the program: "Lullaby" by Mozart, and "If with all your hearts," by Mendelssohn. They were effectively sung by the ensemble composed of Jessie Wolferstels, Dorothy Nelson, Catherine McCombs, Elizabeth M. LeFevre, Mary Gray Legg, Caroline Port, Carol Downer, Jeanette MacKinnon, with Ethel Mutterer conducting and Lucinda Merritt at the organ.

Two numbers marked by very fine musicianship and close ensemble were "Meditation" from Thais (by request) by Massenet, and "The Harp of St. Cecilia" by Wiegand, with Lelia R. Decker at the organ and Helen Crowley Tremper at the piano.

Ilsa K. Dunbar gave a very fine rendition of the beautiful "He Shall Feed His Flock" from Handel's "Messiah".

The most brilliant number on the program was the "Grand Aria" by Demarest, played well by Bessie Ellison at the organ and Edna F. Rignall at the piano.

The program was brought to a finale which left the audience wishing for more when Lucinda Merritt showed her ability as a real organist by her playing as an organ number, the "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser" by Wagner.

The arranging of such a fine program, just the securing and preparing of the unusual group numbers, particularly the organ and piano numbers, by these young women, purely in the interest of better music in our city, (for no admission was charged), deserved a much larger audience than was present and which made up for its size by its enthusiasm.

Eagle Bus Case Adjourned Until November 20, Here

A hearing was held this morning before Examiner John F. O'Brien of the Public Service Commission on the application of the Eagle Bus Lines, Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Company and Woodstock-Kingston Bus Company, for a change of route within the city of Kingston. The application was made in order that the bus lines might use the new bus terminal on North Front street instead of the old Crown street terminal. Charles de la Vergne appeared for the Eagle Bus Lines, N. LeVan Haver for the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Company and Louis G. Bruhn appeared for Aduchefsky, operator of the new terminal on North Front street. O. A. Woodruff appeared for the Metropolitan Insurance Company, owners of the Crown street terminal which is now under lease to Fred H. Illert.

At the conclusion of the hearing the matter was adjourned until November 20 at 10 o'clock at the court house and Commissioner O'Brien suggested that in the meantime the bus operators, the city officials and those interested in the matter get together and go over the question of public convenience very carefully and then come in at the adjourned date with witnesses prepared to testify. The adjournment was also taken in order to give the other bus lines an opportunity to make application for a change of route if that was deemed desirable after the conference. All of the applications should be acted upon at one hearing instead of stringing them out, the commissioner suggested.

Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin appeared for the city and reviewed the bus terminal situation here. He said that following the closing of the Crown street terminal by the owners of the property there was a meeting before the Bus Committee of the Common Council at which six bus operators expressed their terminal to North Front street. At that hearing Mr. Illert was represented by Roscoe V. Ellsworth. Of the five remaining lines which expressed no desire to go to the North Front street location only one made any appearance at the public hearing and that was the Ferraro line which expressed a desire to remain at Crown street terminal.

At that meeting Mr. Cashin said M. H. Herzog stated the Metropolitan Insurance Company had closed the terminal by roping it off and the bus lines were using the street. After a discussion the Uptown Business Men's Association favored the North Front street location and Aduchefsky presented a one year lease to the property.

On May 15 Mr. Illert was unable to present a lease for the Crown street grounds but later did produce a three year lease and in the meantime work was commenced on the North Front street terminal which was being favored by the six lines. After the public hearing the Bus Committee recommended to the Common Council a change to the North Front street terminal and the Common Council adopted that recommendation. Application of some of the lines was made to the Common Council for a right to change the route to the new terminal and the Common Council granted that change and now application was being made to the Commission for its approval.

Mr. Haver and Mr. Bruhn both spoke favoring the new terminal and said that when the Metropolitan closed the old terminal the bus lines were on the street and had to seek a new location. The North Front street site was selected as it was only a short distance from the old site and was available and considerable expense had been gone to place it in condition. Mr. Haver said the bus lines felt under the circumstances they were under a moral obligation to remain here and the common council had consented.

Mr. Illert spoke in his own behalf. He said he had been unable to get a lease from the Metropolitan Insurance Company at first when the old terminal had been closed and he had offered the land in the rear of his Crown street store. There had been objection to the use of that site because of its close proximity to the public school which was located on the same side of the street, but he said later he had secured a lease on the old terminal grounds and was now ready to have that used. The objection made to the terminal on Crown street had been made by the P. T. A. at a time when it had been proposed that the terminal be on the same side of the street and adjacent to the public school, but the present plan was to use the old terminal which had been in use for years and upon which he had a three year lease.

Mr. O'Brien said that the convenience of the public must be considered.

Charles de la Vergne for the Eagle Bus Company said that his company was willing to use any suitable terminal but he believed all bus lines should use the same terminal. Others agreed to the statement. Mr. de la Vergne said his client did not desire to use the new terminal unless all of the lines did so. It was suggested that the matter go over until such time as a general discussion could be held and the convenience of the public considered and also until such time as all of the lines desiring to have made application for a change of route. This was suggested after Mr. Bruhn had stated that other lines for whom he appeared would make application for use of the new terminal but had not done so yet.

This suggestion was finally adopted and the hearing adjourned until November 20.

Republican Club to Meet This Evening

A record breaking crowd of men and women are expected to attend the meeting of the Republican Club this evening at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium on Pine Grove avenue, when County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran will show movies of the big Republican gathering held at Tillson Lake during the summer. In addition to the movies there will be several prominent speakers to discuss the issues of the campaign. This meeting is open to every one interested in the policies of the Republican party.

In the case of Morton Lown of Albany avenue, charged with driving while intoxicated, which was to have come up before Justice R. J. Moore at Eddyville Wednesday, the hearing was adjourned one week to October 21, at 10 a. m. Lown was arrested by Trooper Arthur Reilly following an accident on the Plank Road October 3, when his car left the road and was badly damaged.

$1,471 Subscribed To Boy Scouts

The third report meeting of the workers of the Boy Scout Campaign took place last evening at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30. Music was in charge of Paul Zucca and the meeting was presided over by Chairman Eugene A. Freer, who called the group to order and introduced Principal C. L. Dumm of the Kingston High School as the five minute speaker. Mr. Dumm took for his topic the slogan, "A man is never so straight as when he stoops to help a boy." Mr. Dumm went on to say that it may not be stooping so much physically as it would be mentally and in energy and ambition and desire to help a boy. Further Mr. Dumm said that Theodore Roosevelt made a statement that the time to help a man is when he is a boy and that the youth can become the greatest asset or greatest liability in a community. Mr. Dumm, who has had long experience in work with boys and girls, urged the workers to press on and to cover the entire list of prospects before Friday night.

At the conclusion of Mr. Dumm's talk Chairman Freer expressed the appreciation of the group present for the very timely and fine remarks. Then Chairman Freer called for the reports of the teams which are as follows:

Team	Third Report	Total	Subs.	Amount

Total	97	$441.10	97	$1,471.10

The flag for the largest amount reported for the evening was awarded to the Rotary Club Team presented by Gus. Modjeska and was presented to him by the Albany Avenue Baptist Team, captained by George B. Matthews.

Chairman Freer urged all workers to clean up their prospects because of the fact that from the records in the campaign office there are some 1,000 cards still unseen and in the hands of the workers and urged them to do so before the closing meeting. Friday night. Chairman Freer said that in order to give every one an equal opportunity to complete his or her work there would be no supper meeting on Thursday evening but there would be a Victory Dinner in the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 to 7:30 Friday night when he hoped that every worker would not only have completed his or her task but also contacted others whom they knew in their locality.

Chairman Freer also wished to express through the public press his hope that many of the people who had not been called upon would be willing to assist in the successful campaign by making their contribution direct to the Scout Office, 237 Fair street, Kingston, and thus save a great deal of time and effort.

ST. JAMES M. E. EPWORTH LEAGUE'S NEW OFFICERS

The Epworth League of St. James M. E. Church has elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, James Norton; first vice president, Doris Snyder; second vice president, Vivian Snyder; third vice president, June Kellerman; fourth vice president, Eleanor Shultz; fifth vice president, Richard Dumm, and secretary-treasurer, Betty Snyder. The league is planning for an active winter season.

SAUGERTIES G.O.P. RALLY THIS EVENING

At Mechanics' Hall, Saugerties this evening there will be Republican rally at which several local speakers will discuss the important issues of the campaign. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

38 Geese Saved
Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Thirty-eight Canadian geese, which rode over Niagara Falls, stunned but alive, drank milk and nibbled corn today, regaining strength that should enable them to continue their southward migration. Acting as a nursemaid was William "Red" Hill, Hill's own feat of riding the Niagara rapids in a barrel several years ago was eclipsed by the adventure which befell the 38 Canadian honkers Tuesday. Hill landed the stunned birds from the 155-foot drop over Horseshoe Falls. Other members of the main flock of about 1,000 geese, more wary of the current that carried their unsuspecting companions over the falls, flew safely away from the upper river yesterday.

Headed Girl Scouts Again
Cincinnati, Oct. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the former president, was re-elected president of the Girl Scouts of America today at the 22nd annual national convention. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of President Harrison, was named an honorary vice-president. Other vice-presidents elected included Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, wife of the governor of New York.

Speaks Again
Among the speakers at the Republican Rally to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock will be Ralph Sammons, who spoke at the Governor Clinton Hotel last evening. Those who heard Mr. Sammons were deeply interested in his message and King is fortunate in that he was able to remain over today and address the meeting this evening at the Y. M. C. A.

350-Pound Bear Mangles Two Men In Maine Today

Ellsworth, Me., Oct. 15 (AP)—A captive 350-pound bear horribly mangled and killed two men at the Whistle Inn, a small combination gasoline filling station and restaurant today.

The animal went berserk as George Langley, proprietor of the inn, entered a cage to give it its breakfast. The other man killed, James Burckell, 58, of Fort Fairfield, Langley's helper at the inn, was attacked as he went to his employer's rescue.

There were no witnesses to the killings. Mrs. Langley had gone to Bangor for the day. Passing on a truck, George A. Merrill, of Bangor, a telephone company employee, noticed the bear lying over the body of one of the men and Joseph Willette, a neighbor, quickly shot the animal with a rifle.

Sheriff Harold Hodgkins arrived soon afterwards and shot another bear, trying fiercely to get out of its pen.

Police believed the enraged killer bear pushed the 60-year-old Langley through the pen door as he entered with food. As the animal attacked Langley, his assistant apparently struck the bear with a shovel and he in turn met death. The bodies of both men were torn and their limbs broken.

The inn is about 10 miles outside the business section of Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Langley had operated the inn in the North Ellsworth district for the past 10 years and kept the bears as a trade attraction. Both animals were believed to have been tame and as far as police could ascertain, never before caused trouble.

Biblical Drama Here October 20-21

The Rev. H. D. McGrath will play the part of Moses, the great leader of his people in "The First Commandment," the great Biblical dramatization, to be staged at Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, October 20 and 21 at 8 o'clock. Moses is one of the most dramatic and dynamic characters in Biblical history and the Rev. Mr. McGrath plays the part very successfully. The friends of the pastor will be able to recognize him in this role, when he dons his snow white beard and wig and his flowing gown which contains over 14 yards of material.

Charles Brodhead in the part of Aaron supports the Rev. Mr. McGrath in scenes filled with dramatic action. Aaron also wears flowing garments of ancient times. The old man of the Israelite tribe, Kohath, is played by John Decker, who takes the part well. Other important characters in these scenes are William Brady in the role of Helon, and Robert Evans in the part of Malchiah.

There are also a number of important women characters in this scene. Miriam, the sister of Moses and Aaron, is played by Miss Gertrude Evers, who takes the part very ably. She leads the group of Israelites in rejoicing and praise for deliverance from Egypt's bondage. Miss Virginia Countryman, Mrs. Irving Wells, Mrs. Jesse Freese and Mrs. George Wells, play the roles of the Levite women.

Nativity Scene Beautiful
Another beautiful scene in "The First Commandment" is the scene of the Nativity. The principal characters in this scene are William Stall in the role of Joseph, and also Miss Lois Stall playing the part of Mary. In this scene also are four shepherds and three kings. The three kings who bring gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the Christ child are played by Mr. Hooker, Ray DuBois and Francis Phillips, who sing beautiful songs to Mary and the Babe. These three men are soloists of great ability and this part of the production is especially beautiful because of the music.

Kalish To Build Modern Garage

Morris Kalish, proprietor of the Kingston Laundry, is tearing down the former Parish garage, Broadway and West Pierpont street, in preparation for the construction of a modern one, which he hopes to start building in a week or so.

Mr. Kalish purchased the property last Saturday for the new garage that will hold about 50 automobiles when it is completed. August Schrowang, local architect, has designed plans for the building. About 15 men are engaged at tearing down the old garage.

YOUNG MARRIED WOMEN'S CLUB HARVEST FROLIC

The Young Married Women's Club of Kingston will sponsor a harvest dance and frolic at the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening, October 16. Music for modern and old fashioned dances will be furnished by Paul Zucca's orchestra. Those attending, who do not dance, will find bridge tables for their pleasure.

$2,000 Jewelry Robbery

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Three robbers obtained jewelry worth $2,000 in a holdup today of the jewelry store of Saul Levin (61 Eldridge street). Levin and another jeweler, David Lebowitz, 27, of 13 East Palisades avenue, Edgewood, N. J., were left bound and gagged in a rear room and freed themselves after the holdup men escaped. Lebowitz had brought $1,000 worth of jewelry to Levin's shop to be placed. The robbers took a suitcase containing this jewelry and stripped Levin's show-case. Levin said his jewelry was insured, but Lebowitz's was not.

C. B. of A. Card Party
Court Santa Maria, 154, Catholic daughters of America, will hold a card party in Knights of Columbus Hall, Thursday evening, October 22, starting at 8:15.

Local Death Record

Dry Brook, Oct. 15—Mrs. Bertha Avery, widow of the late Jay Avery, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Orra Weeks at Hobbart. She was a resident of this place for a number of years and leaves many friends and relatives to mourn her loss. Her funeral was held in Hobbart Monday at 10 a. m. and a prayer service at her grave in this place at 12:30 p. m. at Wood cemetery.

John J. Dowling of Rosendale died Wednesday. His funeral will be held from the family home, Saturday morning at 9:30 and at 10 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where a high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in St. Peter's cemetery. Surviving are his wife, Mary Cannon Dowling, and his mother, Mrs. Theresa Dowling, seven brothers, Charles, James, William, Walter, Vincent, Joseph and Leo Dowling.

Plattekill, Oct. 15—George W. Decker, 63, husband of the late Ella Decker, died on Sunday, October 12, at his home near here, after an illness of three weeks' duration. Mr. Decker was born in Plattekill, the son of the late Deborah and William Decker, and has resided in this vicinity during his entire life. He is survived by one brother, Charles Decker, of Plattekill, and two nieces. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, with interment in the Walkkill Valley Cemetery.

The funeral of Merlin Brodhead was held this afternoon from his late home on Elizabeth street with the Rev. A. G. Carroll of St. James Church officiating. The services were largely attended and there was a profusion of flowers, which were banked about the casket. The Rev. Mr. Carroll spoke eloquently of the home and church life of the deceased who had been an active member of St. James M. E. Church for a number of years. Burial was in the family plot in Rosendale Plains cemetery where the Rev. Mr. Carroll had charge of the services at the grave. The bearers were Henry Milling, Edward Kearney, Arthur Johnson, Fred Ralchie, Albert Roosa and Hubert Roosa.

Mrs. Anna Lambert of Spring Glen, widow of George Lambert, died at Benton Avenue Sanitarium, Middletown, Tuesday, aged 80 years. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Eckert Smith and Miss Josephine Lambert, both of Spring Glen; two brothers, George Dill of the state of Washington and William Dill of Woodbourne, N. Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Benson of Ellenville and Mrs. William Falk of Ulster Heights. The remains have been removed to the H. B. Hamilton Community Funeral Service, 102 Canal street, Ellenville, where friends may call Wednesday evening between 7 and 9 o'clock and any time on Thursday. Funeral services will be held at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church, Ellenville, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Fantekill cemetery, near Ellenville.

Campaign Trails Cross

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—Campaign trails of President Roosevelt and Governor Landon crossed today. Schools were closed and many factories suspended operations for the occasion. Crowds lining the streets included Republicans who turned out to see Governor Landon's departure and Democrats who rallied to greet the arriving President Roosevelt. Landon, who spoke here last night, departed on his campaign train at 9:10 a. m. Nineteen minutes later, the Roosevelt campaign train arrived. They passed each other about 10 miles southwest of the city.

Hitler Is Willing

Berlin, Oct. 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, answering Britain's "feeler" on a proposed new Locarno pact, today was understood to have expressed willingness to join an anti-war agreement with Britain, France, Belgium and Italy. However, his agreement to join a pact in which these countries would reaffirm their intention never to war among themselves for any reason was reported to have left out eastern and southeastern European states. The answer was dispatched to London last night.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness extended to me during my recent bereavement in the death of my beloved wife, Nettie C. Rodman; also for the beautiful floral tributes.

Landon Says Workers, Farmers Will Be U. S. Santa Claus to New Deal Candidate Against Waste, Extravagance, Because He Sees Ultimate Loss of Homes and Farms by Confiscation.

NEW DEAL vs. INDIANA

Such Wasteful Practices He Says, in Direct Contrast with Indiana Farm Methods.

Aboard Landon Special enroute across Indiana, Oct. 15 (AP)—Addressing his presidential campaign to Indiana farmers, Gov. Alf M. Landon asserted today, "It is the farmers and the workers that eventually will play Santa Claus to the New Deal's program of reckless extravagance."

"I am opposed to waste, extravagance and debt because I am opposed to the ultimate confiscation of farms and homes," the Republican nominee said in opening his drive for Indiana's 14 electoral votes at Kendallville, first of seven scheduled stops in the Hoosier state.

"Bounded indebtedness of government is in reality a first mortgage on every home and farm in this nation," he said, adding that "New Deal misadministration has hurt the farmer more than any one else."

"It's wasteful practices," he continued, "are in direct contrast with the good farm methods of Indiana agriculture. The present administration has piled up an intolerable burden of public debt. It rests largely on the backs of property owners, farmers and wage earners. They cannot pass their taxes on to some one else as other income producing groups can."

Hutchinson Statement
As the Landon train moved southward, William L. Hutchinson, director of the labor division, Republican National Committee, issued a statement saying "direct evidence exists that the New Deal is using its influence to control the internal affairs of labor unions."

"This was illustrated," Hutchinson said, "when notice went forth to compel union men of Chicago to march in the parade held in that city last night for President Roosevelt."

Hutchinson charged an "ultimatum" went out to the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, saying "You are requested to be in a parade and you are subject to fine should you not appear."

"Organized labor should resist this effort to lash them into line for the New Deal," he said.

"Its members should answer this un-American dictation at the polls in November."

Landon concluded his appeal for Michigan's 19 electoral votes at Sturgis this morning.

He spoke from the balcony of a Grand Rapids hotel last night at the end of a 160-mile trip from Detroit that required all day to complete because of the number of stops.

The throng cheered as the candidate called for "a government liberal enough in its outlook not to mistake mere change for progress," and asserted the New Deal had "confused change with progress" and "too often has been liberal only in the spending of other people's money."

75,000 Present
Held back by uniformed National Guardsmen armed with rifles, the persons who lined the streets from the station to Landon's hotel, and filled Campau Square were estimated at 75,000 by Police Chief Frank O'Malley.

For 15 minutes after his speech, Landon shook hands with as many well-wishers as could pass in a receiving line, and then left for the home of Senator Vandenberg.

With his major speeches out of the way, Landon increased the number of his back-platform talks to 10—at Sturgis, Mich., Kendallville, Huntington, Wabash, Peru, Logansport, Lafayette and Attica, Ind., and Danville and Decatur, Illinois. The short speeches were supplemented with numerous appearances to wave greetings to crowds gathered at stations where the campaign train slowed but did not halt.

He planned to reach Topeka early Friday after an overnight trip across Illinois and Missouri.

Greatest Election Since Civil War

Imposts, being paid today, are being paid, not by those who can best afford it, but by the poor people. Said she, "In 1932, when Roosevelt was elected, 61 per cent of the taxes were being paid by the so-called rich. Today they are paying but 30 per cent of the taxes. The poor are paying now."

Miss Miner came to Kingston Wednesday from Saratoga, where she spoke at noon. She spoke of the speaking campaign being carried on by Judge Blackley, Republican candidate for governor, and said that there seemed to be a great deal of enthusiasm for him up-state.

Address by Manufacturer
Following Miss Miner's address, Ralph Seamon, a Long Island manufacturer, who had come to Kingston to address another meeting, was presented and spoke briefly, but forcibly on some of the economic phases of the New Deal administration. Mr. Seamon spoke under difficulties, as he had to contend with a dance orchestra playing in the adjoining ballroom, but he had a voice equal to the emergency.

The speaker declared that the people of the country were being robbed by the present economic set-up of government, but that the large corporations were reaping larger profits than ever. It is the small business man and manufacturer that is suffering, he said.

A Mass of Hypocrisy
Mr. Seamon found the whole New Deal propaganda a mass of hypocrisy, full of misstatements and misleading figures. "At no time," he said, "has the financial basis of this country been so insecure as it is tonight." The danger of inflation, with all its attendant evils, he found to be very real.

As an instance of false security, the speaker referred to the policy of insuring bank deposits. He declared that out of a fund of $240,000,000 held to insure the safety of bank deposits, but about $20,000,000 was actually cash—the balance of $220,000,000 was paper.

It is understood that an attempt will be made to get Mr. Seamon to return to Kingston and address a meeting to be held at some future date before the close of the campaign. In that case he will have the endorsement of those who heard him Wednesday night as a forceful and interesting speaker, presenting the situation from the viewpoint of one who is directly interested as a manufacturer and business man, in sound, economic administration of government.

Mrs. R.C. Hasbrouck Died of Heart Attack

Mrs. Ruth C. Hasbrouck of 3 Cedar street, was suddenly stricken with a heart attack while walking on Broadway in front of the Beck meat market, and fell to the sidewalk. She was picked up and carried into the McBride drug store nearby and a physician was summoned but she died before medical aid could be administered.

Coroner Norwin R. Leaser of Saugerties was called and after an investigation gave as his verdict that death was due to a heart attack and turned the body over to A. Carr & Son, and private funeral services will be held.

Mrs. Hasbrouck since the first of the month has resided at 3 Cedar street, and for many years previous was a resident of Port Jervis. Her husband, John H. Hasbrouck, operates a service station on Route 1-W near the entrance to the Rondout Creek bridge. There are no other immediate relatives.

Friends may view the remains this evening at the Carr Funeral Home on Pearl street.

P. T. A. No. 2 Card Party

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 2 are planning to hold a public card party in the assembly hall at the school on Monday evening for the purpose of raising needed funds. During the summer vacation period new funds were held in the assembly room and a number of new chairs have been placed on the floor. It now makes an ideal place in which to stage a public card party.

ernment militiamen at the Pelayos Gorge from San Martin De Valdeiglesias and Pelayos. Behind the Madrid soldiers was the river, and they could only escape by fording it, for they had blown up the bridge behind them to make the insurgent advance more difficult if the government defenders should be forced back.

The Government stand stemmed a retreat which came on the heels of seeming victory. Eagerly the militia men had advanced toward Pelayos, even hoping to reach San Martin De Valdeiglesias, about four miles farther west.

Government planes prepared the way by bombing the insurgent lines and the troops stormed the Fascist positions.

But the hopeful Madrid fighters were caught in a trap. Charging Fascist cavalrymen and foot soldiers swung around the hills and pressed in on both flanks while insurgent planes unloaded cargoes of bombs.

There was no alternative but retreat. Some government soldiers waded across the Alberche and others took to the gorge, setting up their machine guns.

In other sectors, however, the government claimed successes. It said heavy fighting was still going on at Oviedo, where insurgents were harried in a cathedral which had been shelled by Government artillery.

Chronicle of City Strikes a Parallel

A remarkable parallel may be drawn between the historical sketches by H. L. Van Dusen describing the establishing of Kingston as a city, and the 24th anniversary of a business institution which has played a great part in the life of Kingston. It is a fitting coincidence that the series of articles titled "A City Was Born," now appearing nightly in The Freeman, should come at a time when the Rose & Gorman Department Store marks its 24th year of service in the community.

Although Mr. Van Dusen has chosen as his field of discussion the early years of Kingston's charterization, it was not until some 40 years later—in 1912—that the city's largest store, the present Rose & Gorman, was founded.

While comparatively few people remember the period of the merging of the two villages, Kingston and Rondout, many residents of Kingston and Ulster county recall the time when the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Co. became Rose-Gorman-Rose. As the city grew and entered the age of modernization this store progressed with it. The horse and buggy gave way to the automobile, the street cars were replaced by buses, the electric light and telephone came into everyone's home. Along with these community changes, the Dix Store developed to keep pace. An addition was built, thereby making its three acres of floor space the largest of any store of its kind in the Hudson valley. Many other improvements were made through the years to increase the store's service to the public.

Kingston, which this year commemorates its 65th year as a city, finds one of its business institutions celebrating its 24th year as a department store. Like Rose & Gorman, whose slogan for this year's anniversary event is, "We're 24 years young," Kingston may well be proud of the fact that it is old in municipal experience but young in ideas and opportunity.

An Old-Time Traffic War
A most ruthless traffic war was waged many years ago among the railroads that had just opened west of the Missouri river. To populate farms and towns to create business, the companies not only sent agents to European countries to get immigrants but the roads actually stole whole trainloads of foreigners from one another's tracks, often landing the passengers hundreds of miles from their destination.—Collier's Weekly.

Herzog, Flanagan, Walker, Gold, Delivering Fight Tickets Today

Owners of three uptown stores turned their businesses over to employees today while they went out to deliver tickets for the Mayor's Industrial Committee boxing matches to be held Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

Matthew V. Herzog, the hardware merchant, E. Frank Flanagan, clothier, and S. Gold, dress dealer, are the three who played hooky from business in order to do their share for promotion of the enterprise to help bring factories to Kingston.

These men, meeting with Mayor Heilmann, Harry B. Walker, central Broadway druggist, and Samuel J. Ribber of the committee on boxing, Wednesday, joined in forecasting that Friday's fight show will be a sell-out. All of them showed enthusiasm, and want to see the house packed to capacity.

Harry Walker, ex-mayor, reported more than 65 reserved seats sold out of his block, and Messrs. Flanagan, Herzog, and Gold said they had orders for practically all of the chairs in their sections. Professional and business men placed their orders readily for the reserved seats, expressing a desire to help toward the worthy cause and because they like boxing.

"It'll be one of the best fight shows ever put on here," Ribber told the committee in the mayor's office yesterday. "We have Benny Becker's word for that, and he knows what he is talking about, being director for the Adirondack A. A. U. and head of a boxing contingent numbering more than 300 fighters."

By 5 o'clock today, the ticket committee hoped for an entire sell-out of the reserved seats, and said plans would be made to increase the number of seats to take care of those desiring to purchase close-up chairs the night of the fights.

Alderman Eugene Cornwell of the 13th Ward will be in the ticket office selling reserves tomorrow night, and Alderman Fred Rann of the 10th Ward will have charge of handling the bleacher seats. Indications are that he will be a busy man, because talk among those who patronize the bleacher sections augurs a large attendance.

In order to avoid congestion, the doors of the auditorium will open at 7:30. The first fight will go on promptly at 8:30.

The card has been announced several times. It features some of the best Golden Gloves scrappers from New York city matched against the top notchers in the Adirondack division.

Where and When the Men

Should Raise Their Hats
Here are some of the specific instances when the hat raising custom should be observed, according to a writer in the Chicago Tribune:

Need we remind you men that your hat should be raised whenever and wherever a woman addresses you, indoors or out, and when you meet, and perhaps stop to talk to a woman on the street. You needn't keep your head uncovered all the time you are speaking to the woman, and endanger your health by exposure to the elements, but you must raise the hat momentarily. If you are walking with a woman, and meet another man or woman who is known to either one or both of you, raise your hat.

You must do the same when you greet an elderly man of your acquaintance, a superior in rank or office, a clergyman, or a man of distinction. And again, when the American flag is carried by, when the national anthem is played, when the cortege of a national figure passes, and in the presence of the dead.

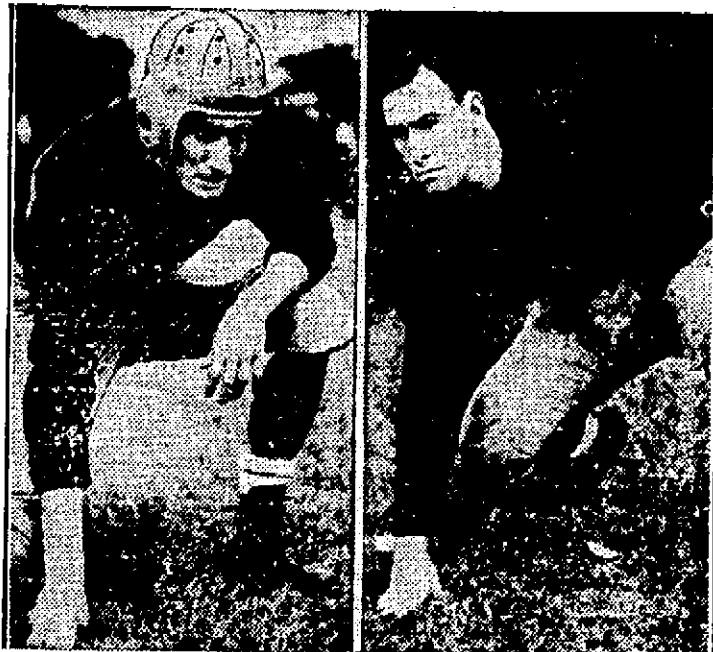

Should a woman unknowingly drop an article as she is walking down the street, a man who notices the loss picks the article up and carries it to the woman to return it. She acknowledges the courtesy, he raises his hat, and immediately departs. If this woman is accompanied by a man, her escort also raises his hat to the other man in acknowledgment of the service. And when a man is talking to a group of women, or a group which includes a woman, he raises his hat.

At right is F. Whitney Jaeger, Colgate's elusive back, who will bear much of the attack together with Eddie Tabor (lower left), fullback. At end for the Raiders will be Chuck Wojack (upper left), deft snatcher of forwards and laterals. (Associated Press Photo)

Hopes Fluctuate About Navy Victory

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 15 (AP).—Navy's hopes for beating Yale—her first major opponent this year—swung up and down today.

Hopes rose with the announcement that Irwin Fike, regular end of last year, would be able to start Saturday in Baltimore. Fike had been out with pre-season injuries.

Hopes fell with the news that Frank Case, Jr., solid general and first string blocking back, was in the hospital and might not get into the game at all. Coaches declined to comment on Case's ailment or to say whether he had been injured.

Case and Speed Schmidt were the only two veterans in the Middle backfield, which has shown need of experience this year, especially on pass defense.

The Middle worked out behind canvas walls—with marbles marching guard at the entrance—again today. The canvas walls have been up all season, but this is the first week in which all spectators—even midshipmen—have been barred.

Balsamo Nearer Crack at the Title

New York, Oct. 15 (AP).—It's going to take a lot of convincing to convince New York fight fans that Harry Balsamo, the subway slugger, doesn't rate a shot at Middleweight Champion Freddy Steele's crown.

The ex-brakeman from the subway loomed larger than ever in the 156-pound picture today as a result of his one-minute victory over Eric Seelig, German refugee, rated among the top Europeans in the division.

The victory last night, coming via the technical knockout route in 1:04 of the first round, was Balsamo's 16th knockout in 29 fights since he turned pro a little more than a year ago. Balsamo, at 155 1/2, outweighed his rival by a quarter of a pound.

He dropped Seelig for a nine-count with a right-hand smash that was almost the first blow of the fight; downed him for five with another right, and then pounded him on his feet a third time with a left to the body and a right to the chin. While Seelig was still on the floor, referee Johnny Morris stopped the proceedings.

Cohan May Buy the Brooklyn Dodgers

New York, Oct. 15 (AP).—Notorious as a peddler of misinformation, Broadway was today with an old fantastic rumor and a new set of fancy figures.

The rumor was that George M. Cohan, actor, dramatic author, manager, composer, and incurable baseball addict, still was interested in buying the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The figures were that World Series fans had poured $300,000 into Broadway and this was partly responsible for the early season theatrical boom.

Obviously, there was no way to check the figures, and Cohan merely laughed at the rumor.

"I think I could make a lot of dough with them on Broadway," he said of the Dodgers.

Fantastic as it sounds, there really is some basis for the rumor. Cohan at one time was definitely in the market to buy the New York Giants, and three years ago his name was mentioned in connection with a deal to buy the Dodgers. On the other hand, Cohan at 55 is not likely to be starting in a new business.

There is nothing unusual however in the prospect of mixing athletics and drama. Mike Jacobs, most active fight promoter in the big time, was a Broadway ticket agent a few years ago, and Sam Harris and William A. Brady, now outstanding theatrical producers, have been well-known sports figures in the past.

The Times Square area is filled with sports figures trying to capitalize on their sports records. Jack Dempsey has one of Manhattan's busiest restaurants. Mickey Walker runs a tavern nearby and recently on a midtown stage the battered Jack Johnson appeared in a minor role in the opera Aida. Even Babe Ruth once had a hat store on Broadway.

South Bend, Ind.—Joe Louis, 203, knocked out Willie Davis, Chicago (3), and outpointed K. O. Brown, Chicago (3).

The most brilliantly lighted street in the world is Chicago's State street.

How far down can you smoke your cigar?

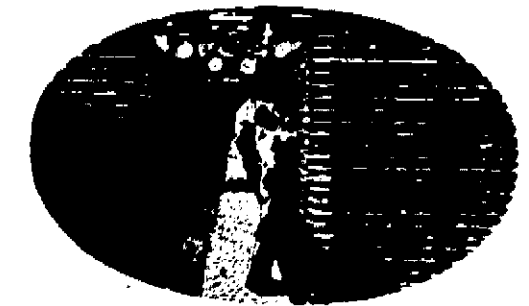

Does the cigar you smoke get more bitter—more bitey—more raspy with every puff? If so—here's what has happened. The bitter oils and harsh elements were left in the tobaccos.

Why? Because ordinary curing methods can't take them out. It's the reason you men throw away millions of cigars half smoked. It's why you shift from brand to brand—looking for a cigar that has mild, smooth, enjoyable flavor all through . . . a cigar you know will be good before you light it.

THE REAL SECRET OF PHILLIES
Bayuk invented a process that begins where most curing methods leave off. It does two all-important things to cigar tobaccos. 1.—Removes the harsh, bitter, bitey elements. 2.—Mellows and improves the real tobacco flavor.

That's why you taste nothing in PHILLIES but the mild, rich flavor of its fine, Long-filler Havana and Domestic tobaccos. No harshness—no bitterness—no bitey, raspy last half.

HAVE YOU TRIED PHILLIES?
If not—smoke one. Note how every puff is mild, smooth and full of rich tobacco flavor. It's the reason more men smoke PHILLIES than any other cigar in America.

BAYUK'S EXCLUSIVE PROCESS

This picture shows a unit in the exclusive Bayuk Process for extracting the bitter oils and other harsh elements from the fine tobaccos used in PHILLIES. No other cigar manufacturer has it. Bayuk invents every process concerned in cigars to make the factory and use this process in actual operation.

New Paltz News

M. E. Church Holds
150th Anniversary
Services on Sunday

New Paltz, Oct. 15—The sesqui- centennial celebration of the New Paltz Methodist Episcopal Church be- gan Sunday morning, October 11.

During the opening session of the Sunday school Mrs. Alfred H. Coons gave a brief talk on where and how the first Sunday schools were started.

At the morning church service the program began with an organ pre- lude played by Miss Margaret New- ton, who has served as organist of the church for a long time. The call to worship was given by the pastor, the Rev. Alfred H. Coons. A solo was sung, "Still, Still with Thee," by Mrs. S. McKeand Kevan. The sesqui- centennial sermon was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. Alfred H. Coons.

The evening service began at 7:30 o'clock with an organ prelude by Miss Margaret Newton. Call to wor- ship by the pastor.

The history of the New Paltz church was read by the pastor, who told that the first Methodist preach- ers came to New Paltz 150 years ago. Coming up from New Jersey they rode through Orange county until they reached Newburgh, from whence they rode up the river to Milton and then back to Modena and New Paltz. At each of these villages they estab- lished preaching places. In New Paltz they held their services for some time at the homes of Hendrick Deyo and Henry DuBois. That was in 1786, one year before the federal constitution was adopted by the states and before George Washing- ton, "the father of his country," had been elected president. Since then the Methodist Church has regularly held services in New Paltz.

The first Methodist Church was built in New Paltz on land bought of Daniel Relyea on Main and Church streets. The church then faced Main street but later was moved to face Church street and the corner prop- erty was sold. A parsonage was built at the time the church was moved in the year 1870. The Methodist Church services were held in the church at this location until the year 1929 when the new church was completed on Main and Grove streets, the present site. The history read by the pastor took in many very in- teresting facts. Following this a trumpet solo, "My Lord and I," was played by Miss Elaine Kniffen. An anthem was sung by the choir with Miss Blanche Guinac and Mrs. S. M. Kevan soloists.

The period to follow was to be filled by talks of former ministers of the church of which there are only six living beside the present pastor. Unfortunately five were unable to attend but letters from each were read. The Rev. Robert L. Mauter- stock of Tarrytown, who preceded the Rev. Mr. Coons, was present and spoke in his usual pleasing and in- teresting and Christian manner. The other living ministers who were past- ors of the New Paltz Methodist Church are: The Rev. A. Brown, now living in Newburgh, who preached in New Paltz, 1887 to 1889; the Rev. Edwin H. Carr, now of Ossining, who was in New Paltz 1885 to 1896; the Rev. R. L. Ross, now of Irvington-on-Hudson, who was in New Paltz in 1899; the Rev. Edwin T. Byles of Poughkeepsie, at New Paltz 1921-1922; the Rev. Richard Bfaunstein, now Army chap- lain, who was at New Paltz from 1930 to 1931; the Rev. Robert L. Mauter- stock, at Tarrytown, who preached at New Paltz from 1932 to 1934.

The hymn, "Blest be the Tie," was then sung with the congregation standing. The benediction was given by the Rev. Robert L. Mauter- stock.

Oldest Member of Church.
During the service the pastor an- nounced that the oldest member of the New Paltz Church, Mrs. Kestah Gerow, was present and expressed words of welcome to her.

After the service all were invited to assemble in the church parlors, where there was an exhibit of pic- tures of former pastors and church groups, etc., and the young people of the Sunday school and church serv- ed sandwiches and coffee.

The celebration continued on Mon- day night with Bishop McConnell as guest speaker. The service began at 8 o'clock, with a prelude. Berceuse, Joslyn, played by Perry Berago on the violin and Miss Margaret Newton at the organ. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Alfred H. Coons. Scripture was read by the Rev. Howard E. Thompson, of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church in New- burgh.

Prayer by the district superin- tendent, the Rev. Dr. Peter C. Wey- ant, also of Newburgh. Violin solo by Perry Berago. An address was given by Bishop McConnell, whose topic was "Indebtedness to Those Who Have Preceded Us in the Church." Benediction was given by Bishop McConnell. All of the serv- ices were well attended and very much enjoyed.

POLITICS at Random

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau,
The Associated Press, Washington

THE Presidential campaign is rounding into its final weeks with little evidence that either party will alter materi- ally the tactical plan it adopted months ago.

There has been some shuffling of the issues. Talk about the constitu- tion and relief has not been so preva- lent as many expected, while com- munist and a few other topics have received an unpredicted prominence. The grand plan of operations, how- ever, still is as it was foreshadowed at convention time.

June saw Mr. Roosevelt keynoting his campaign with a attack on the "economic royalists" of the business world, and Mr. Landon seeking to marshal business sentiment against the New Deal, while both cast dis- trustful glances toward that vast agri- cultural class which many times be- fore has held the balance of electoral power between the two general divi- sions of American political thought.

October finds Democratic organ- izers intensifying their efforts to con- solidate the "underprivileged" (it is Mr. Roosevelt's word) behind the President. It finds the Republicans hammering more and more insistently at the charge that the New Deal is radical, unsound and (to select a term from the vocabulary of Mr. Landon) "cockeyed." It finds both sides desperately wooing the farmer.

On Original Battle Lines

Of course neither party has with- drawn entirely from those sec- tors of public sentiment where its opposition rates itself as strongest. Mr. Landon has referred to himself as a "constructive liberal" and Mr. Roosevelt has declared himself the kind of "conservative" who believes that only through change can sound government be preserved.

The discussion often has gone afield also, as most political discussions do, into the realm of those generalities which are supposed to have a pleas- ant sound to the ears of all classes.

On the same day, in adjacent states, the Republican nominee promised to "restore" the national government to the people, and the Democratic nomi- nee said he was not worried about the future of the country so long as the government "remained" in the hands of the people.

Underneath all of this, however, the original plan of battle is discern- ible when the practical expectations of the two party organizations are examined.

The Democrats look for their largest majorities (outside the south) in the wards and townships where the laboring classes are concentrated most densely, where the unemployed are most numerous, where per capita income is lowest. The Republicans count most heavily on those sections where administration spending and experimentation has aroused greatest resentment and fear for the future.

Farmers Hold Answer

If both of these expectations are correct, then a great deal must depend on the agricultural class.

Normally, over a long period, the farm sections of both east and west have been preponderantly Republi- can. In election after election, in such important states as New York and Illinois, the Republican party has been able to accumulate sufficient farm majorities to overcome heavy opposition leads in the great cities.

But in 1932 and again in 1934 very large numbers of farmers went over to the Democrats. Was this only a temporary walk, or was it a seces- sion? If anyone knew the answer de- finitely, he would be able to tell who would win in 1936.

If you like trying to figure out what you'd do in another fellow's place, try this one. Tradition in the automobile business is not to make major changes in a car after a successful year. Changes cost a lot of money, and besides, why rock the boat? On the other hand, progress and improvement come only through changes, costly as they are. Buick has had a highly successful 1936 year. Plenty of people said the car couldn't be improved. But Buick men had some ideas. To put them into effect would cost plenty. Should they change, or shouldn't they? Buick had to de- cide—and did, to the tune of some $14,500,000. So
